British, French Troops Capture 600 Prisoners

Seize Two Valuable Positions in Tunisian Fighting

Allied Airmen Destroy Twenty-One Planes at Cost of Eight

By DANIEL DE LUCE
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 15 (AP)—British and French troops in hand-to-hand fighting have seized two valuable stretches of high ground and 600 more prisoners along the Axis Tunisian siege line to boost the Allied toll of enemy captives to more than 30,000 in less than four weeks, the high command announced today.

Allied airmen also punched additional holes in the enemy's sky armor yesterday, destroying twenty-one planes at a cost of eight Allied aircraft, and raining tons of explosives on the still strong Tunisian-Sicilian network of fields.

This powerful sky offensive has destroyed 459 planes in combat since the Mareth offensive March 20, compared with 142 Allied aircraft missing. Others also estimate that 150 or more German and Italian planes have been destroyed around during a systematic pounding of Axis air terminals.

Capture Mountain Top
British First Army infantry stormed and captured Djebel Ang, a mountain top eight miles above Medjez-El-Bab and thirty miles west of Tunis yesterday, routing strongly entrenched German and Austrian Alpine troops of whom 200 surrendered.

These enemy troops were dug in, as are other Axis troops holding the mountain approaches to Tunis and Bizerte, for a fierce siege warfare. Their removal from the high ground between Medjez-El-Bab and Mateur would facilitate a direct highway drive on Tunis by Lieut.-Gen. K. A. N. Anderson's First Army.

On the southwestern rim of the Axis lines French Moroccan Goumiers seized Djebel Sefrou, a hill line seven miles above the village of Kararhou. A French communiqué said 400 enemy troops, mostly Italians, were captured while a German infantry company which chose to fight it out was annihilated.

Montgomery Delayed
General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery apparently still was bringing up his British Eighth army's heavy artillery and reinforcements for a powerful effort to turn the enemy's coastal flank.

Field dispatches said that Montgomery's Eighth army, which advanced 200 miles from Gabes to the Enfidaville sector, at present was held up by heavy enemy artillery entrenched in the mountains fifty miles below Tunis.

Russian Planes Raid Nazi Cities

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Russian planes raided Danzig and Königsberg last night in their third aerial attack on Germany since Saturday, Moscow announced tonight in a broadcast recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

Danzig and Königsberg are points on the eastern German supply route to the Leningrad front.

Danzig is the former free city at the head of the Polish corridor.

Starving Europeans To Get Relief Through Johns Hopkins' Research

BALTIMORE, April 15. (AP)—Starving Europeans in countries now occupied by Germany may have a better chance to perpetuate their races because of studies being made by scientists at the Johns Hopkins Medical School.

The Johns Hopkins researchers reported today they are investigating the effects of protein deficiency on the human body and said they already had found that one of the results is the loss of reproductive power.

Although details of diets in conquered countries are not available, the scientists expressed a belief the foods supplied are deficient in animal proteins.

Food Shortages For Civilians Seen by OWI

Either Occasionally Severe or Continuous, Statement Says

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The Office of War Information tonight said American civilians this year face various shortages—either occasionally severe or continuous—in a "serious food situation."

The OWI said this is the general prospect—governed by many factors not completely predictable—for the year on the home front.

More food produced than in record-breaking 1942 but less of it for civilian consumption.

This is the picture: Conservatively and roughly estimated, and assuming average weather, civilians will have about three per cent more food than in the pre-war years but above six per cent less than in 1942.

Little Fancy Food
"There will be little fancy food but there will be enough of it if it is fairly shared and conserved."

The report, months in preparation, asserted its purpose was neither to "alarm nor reassure." It added:

"The food situation is not entirely predictable. Requirements vary from time to time. Production depends on weather and other fluctuating influences. The result is constant change."

"American civilians, therefore, must expect inconveniences from time to time and understanding of this fact is most important in comprehending the food situation."

Elmer Davis, OWI director, told a press conference yesterday the food report had been held up since January. He explained: "There were differences between two government (Agriculture department) agencies over what were the facts."

Recently, he said, he had held it up so additional facts could be inserted.

Controversy Within OWI
As originally written in January, the report was part of a sharp controversy within the OWI itself, according to staff members of the agency.

Fifteen of them who recently resigned issued a statement today saying they were leaving "because (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Randall, of the department of pediatrics of the Hopkins Medical School, reported that experiments demonstrated the lack of tryptophane prevents reproduction by female rats. Tryptophane is one of the twenty-odd amino acids found in proteins and in meat, fish, eggs and milk.

Although the Hopkins group did not claim the results of their experiments were applicable to man, there is some evidence that they might be so applied.

Scientists say that in many parts of Europe where farm animals have been destroyed, it is obvious that a shortage of tryptophane may be expected.

Planes Will Be Sent to Pacific, Stimson Asserts

Enough To Counter Japan's Stepped Up Attacks Promised

Needs of MacArthur Kept in Mind, Secretary of War Says

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Planes enough to "counter" Japan's stepped-up air attack in the Southwest Pacific will be forthcoming, Secretary of War Stimson assured his weekly press conference today.

"We will keep our American and Australian fliers supplied with sufficient planes not only to replace our losses but to build up our aircraft to counter the increasing enemy air strength," he said. "The needs of the Southwest Pacific are being kept constantly in mind and there will be a constantly increasing flow of military supplies, particularly aircraft, to that theater."

Replies to Critics
The war secretary spoke in direct answer to the rising clamor from Australian public officials and others for more help to beat off the Japanese attacks and retain the hard-won Allied Air Initiative in the Australian-Solomons theater.

General MacArthur lent powerful support to that plea in his recent statement warning of the gravity of the situation.

President Manuel L. Quezon, refugee chief executive of the Philippines, added his voice to the concert during the day in a formal statement expressing serious concern over reported Japanese air concentrations "near Australia."

"Japan must not be allowed to make further gains," he said. "She must not be granted time to devote all her energies to consolidating and mastering the immense natural resources now available to her—resources greater even than those available to Hitler."

Praises Officials
Stimson made no direct reference to the MacArthur warning. He commented, however, that "vigorous public officials" in the war areas "would be remiss in their duties" if they failed to press demands for adequate means to meet situations confronting them.

The secretary's assurances that air help sent to the Southwest Pacific would go beyond the scale of loss replacements for the southwest Pacific air force and permit it to "counter" the intensified Japanese attack attracted particular attention. It seemed to imply that steps to match and master Japanese airpower in that zone quantitatively, as it has been qualitatively, as it has been qualitatively out-matched by MacArthur's fliers, have been taken by the chief of staff's (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Pro-Nazi Charge Against Gearhart Causes an Uproar
Frances B. Sayre and Congressman Exchange Hot Remarks

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The House Ways and Means committee hearing on reciprocal trade extension was thrown into an uproar today when Francis B. Sayre, State department representative, referred to a statement by Representative Gearhart (R-Calif.) as "very much like a pro-German speech."

The flare-up came after the Californian accused the State department of "encircling Hitler" by making trade treaties with surrounding countries, and he asked "who can say this did not cause Hitler to strike the first blow?"

"Instead of promoting peace," Gearhart said, "this program has contributed to war. Don't come here saying they (trade pacts) will promote peace when they have brought us war."

Sayre, high commissioner of the Philippines at the time of the Japanese invasion, and now assistant to Secretary of State Hull, said, "that sounds very much like a pro-German speech."

Gearhart, a committee member, jumped to his feet and shouted, "don't you or any other person dare say I am making a pro-German speech. I am the most contemptible thing alive."

STILL TRYING, JAPS LOSE ANOTHER LANDING PARTY AT GUADALCANAL

COMPLETE FAILURE was this attempted Jap landing at Guadalcanal. The enemy's landing boats, barges and tank lighters are shown strewn along the beach after the Battle of the Matanikau where the Jap landing party was completely wiped out.

German U-Boat Reported Sunk In Caribbean

Caught Cruising on Surface and Destroyed; Crewman Rescued

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—A German submarine was depth-charged and destroyed in the Caribbean Sea several months ago when it was caught cruising on the surface by an army heavy bomber on patrol, the navy reported today.

One crew member from the submarine survived the attack and was later picked up by a United States destroyer, the navy said. This was the first time that an official release had disclosed the capture of a German U-boat crewman in American waters.

U-boat Caught Napping
The army bomber, piloted by Captain Howard Burhanna, Jr., of Philadelphia, sighted the sub at a distance of eight miles and roared to the attack. The U-boat had no time to submerge and was still on the surface when the plane released its depth charges.

Immediately after the depth charges exploded, air and oil bubbles blossomed over the surface of the sea and thirty-seven minutes later the men in the bomber spotted a large volume of oil and air breaking through the water.

Survivor Rescued
Members of the plane's crew then sighted a survivor of the attack swimming about in the oil. They dropped a life raft and vest to him.

For some time thereafter, air patrols sought to locate the survivor, the first plane having been unable to stand by until help arrived. The patrols failed to find him, but ten days later he was picked up by the destroyer.

Hancock Minute Women Rivals Male Units
HANCOCK, Md., April 15. (AP)—The Minute Women of Hancock, organized three months ago at the request of six women who contemplated joining the WAVES or WAAC, now boasts a membership of thirty.

Directed by B. D. Conn, first sergeant of the Hancock minute men, the organization, believed to be the first of its type in the country, drills each Sunday and displays a greater enthusiasm than most men, Conn said.

GERMAN WAR INDUSTRIES DEALT SHATTERING BLOW

Attack on Stuttgart Leaves Tremendous Fires; 23 British and Canadian Planes Lost

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Germany's war industries were dealt another shattering blow last night when Britain's bombers made a "very heavy" attack on Stuttgart, leaving tremendous fires roaring and dense smoke billowing 14,000 feet above one of the enemy's most vital armament and engineering centers.

Twenty-three of the planes that roared 400 miles across hostile territory to blast Stuttgart's plane, tank and submarine motor plants were lost to anti-aircraft fire and Nazi night fighters. Ten of the missing planes were from Canadian squadrons, which took an important part in the raid. At least three German night fighters were shot down.

Many Planes in Action
An air ministry communiqué said that the attack was "very heavy" and that the target was "clearly identified," indicating the raid was made in clear weather. It was the first attack on the city of 410,000 since the night of March 11. Residents of coastal England supplied an idea of the size of the bombing force when they said it took an hour and a half for the armada to pass.

Crews told of great explosions and fires caused by two-ton "blockbuster" bombs and incendiaries. A Canadian bombardier said "it was an amazing sight. All our bombs fell in the center of a tremendous fire and when they exploded the whole thing seemed to bloom outward."

Another described Stuttgart as a "general inferno."

Surplus Gasoline Dumped on Ground, Congressman Says
Rep. Weiss Reports on Plight of Pennsylvania Refiners

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Declaring that "gasoline is being dumped back into the ground" by Western Pennsylvania refiners because there is no way for them to ship their surplus, Representative Weiss (D-Pa.) today called upon the House Rules committee to give prompt consideration to his resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the gasoline situation there.

Weiss told the House that Western Pennsylvania newspapers carried reports of surplus gasoline being poured into the ground and of refining operations being halted because the companies were unable to get rid of excess fuel.

Interior Secretary Ickes, meanwhile, told his press conference that gasoline stocks in Western Pennsylvania were now "very much lower" than at the time requests were made originally that gasoline allowances in that part of the state be increased over those for the rest of the seventeen-state east coast district.

Ickes said he is keeping in touch with the gasoline supply situation in the area.

MacArthur Reports 4,318 Killed, Wounded, Missing Up to March 31
Of this figure, 2,175 were listed as killed or missing in action "under conditions presuming death."

The airforce casualties represent a large proportion of these totals since the airmen were the first to see action in the New Guinea theater and waged a fight for many months before American infantry engaged the enemy.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 16. (AP)—General MacArthur's spokesman disclosed today that the United States air and ground forces have sustained a total of 4,319 casualties—dead, missing in action or wounded—in the New Guinea campaign through March 31.

Kiska Bombed In Ten Raids On Single Day

Dawn-to-Dusk Attacks Set New Record, Navy Reports

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Army bombers, escorted by swarms of fighter planes, plastered Japanese positions on Kiska Island Tuesday in an unprecedented one-day series of ten raids.

The attacks, apparently carried out on a dawn-to-dusk schedule since no night actions were specified in a navy communiqué, exceeded by one the total number of raids against Japan's Aleutians outpost during the whole month of February.

Neither the number of bombs nor the total tonnage loosed in Tuesday's raids was given out by the navy, but it seemed probable that the actions had broken all records for amounts of explosives dropped there. The communiqué said "many hits were scored and fires were started in the runway and main camp area."

While the bombers were about their work of destruction, the fighter planes strafed beached enemy float type aircraft.

The largest previous number of attacks in a single day was on April 2 when army bombers made eight raids. The size of that raid caused conjecture here as to whether an amphibious attempt to take Kiska might be in the making. There still is no evidence one way or the other as to what the intentions of the American high command may be with regard to Kiska.

It might be the plan to bomb it into uselessness. On the other hand, the bombing could serve as a means of softening up whatever resistance the Japs might be able to offer to a landing attempt.

The Aleutian air fields present the most menacing threat which the Japs have posed for American forces in the north Pacific. To date the air raids against Kiska as well as the less frequent ones against Attu have met very light opposition.

The navy communiqué also reported briefly on the South Pacific, saying that during Wednesday avenger bombers and wildcat fighters attacked Japanese barges and installations in Viru harbor on New Georgia Island and started several fires. The island lies northwest of Guadalcanal.

Japanese Fleet Reported Ready For New Attack

Third Warning in Three Days Sent to U. S. Command

Enemy Reported Concentrating in Several Pacific Ports

By VERN HAUGLAND
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Friday, April 16. (AP)—A strong Japanese attempt to supply and man their base at New Guinea, on the north coast of New Guinea, now is under attack by General Douglas MacArthur's bombers.

Today's communiqué disclosed that an enemy convoy of six merchant vessels and three warships was sighted approaching New Guinea and were immediately bombed, three of the merchantmen being hit heavily.

By MURLIN SPENCER
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 15 (AP)—A spokesman for General Douglas MacArthur, issuing the third such warning in three days, declared today that a big Japanese fleet is massed in the area of Truk, the main enemy naval base outside the Japanese homeland, and stands ready "within less than three days" sailing distance of New Guinea.

Carrying forward the series of alarms concerning Japanese intentions, the spokesman added: "As regards merchant shipping, a (Japanese) concentration of approximately 250,000 tons has been maintained in or around Rabaul alone for the past several months."

Other Bases within Range
"Other Japanese bases on the ARC—Palau, Manila, Sourabaya—are within easy concentration range of the 2,500-mile battle line which envelops the upper half of Australia."

"Constant convoys operating beyond the range of our air forces are being pushed forward to reinforce the enemy."

600 Nazis Slain By Soviet Troops
LONDON, Friday, April 16 (AP)—Russian troops killed 600 Germans and damaged or burned thirteen tanks in a resumption of furious fighting in the Western Caucasus above the enemy bridgehead at Novorossiysk. Moscow announced early today.

The midnight communiqué recorded by the Soviet monitor said the Germans hurled forty-six tanks and strong reinforcements against Red army troops menacing their positions in the Kuban valley, presumably the Anastasevskaya sector thirty miles north of Novorossiysk, but declared all the Nazi counterattacks were smashed.

Rep. Ditter Asks FDR To Help Win War by Refusing To Be a Candidate

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Neely of West Virginia and Chairman (Frank J.) Walker of the Democratic National committee opened the fourth term campaign and discussed it with the president, Ditter said.

Ditter also said that Walker was evading "his own issue of having a short election campaign."

He referred to Walker's letter to Chairman Harrison E. Spangler of the Republican National committee, made public last night, in which Walker expressed regret that the Republican party "does not agree" to his proposal for a brief 1944 presidential campaign. Spangler had written Walker saying the Republicans would agree to a short campaign only if President Roosevelt renounced a fourth term.

Promise of Help For MacArthur Dispels Fears

But Defeat of Hitler Still Remains First on Allied Program

By GLENN BARR
Associated Press Staff Writer
Secretary Stimson's assurance that a constantly increasing flow of supplies, especially planes, will go to General MacArthur should dispel some of the anxiety aroused by the recent news from the Southwest Pacific. There is, however, no reason to believe that his statement discloses any fundamental change in policy, just as there is no reason to interpret the recent Japanese aggressiveness as denoting any basic change in the always perilous situation in the Australian area.

Certainly there is no departure from the United Nations' master plan of dealing with Hitler first. Demands Justified Stimson attempted to lift the discussion above the plane of controversy by his remark that "vigorous public officials in the areas close to the war would be remiss in their duties if they failed to press their demands." He recognized the propriety of General Kenney's mission recent to Washington and statements by General MacArthur and Prime Minister Curtin and gave the reply possible, the assurance that their needs were not forgotten and would be met in increasing measure.

The series of 100-plane raids in the New Guinea and Solomon areas in the last few days leaves no room for doubt that the enemy has opened a new tactical phase. It is marked by increased aggressiveness and an obvious readiness to expend planes and pilots in relatively large numbers.

Jap Fleet Concentrated
Yesterday's statement by a spokesman for General MacArthur that a great Japanese combat fleet is constantly based at Truk and that a quarter million tons of shipping is maintained in the Rabaul area reemphasizes the dangers of a continuing situation.

The advantages in this position, which enable Japan to replace her losses in perhaps one-fifth the time and with one-fifth the transport needed to repair ours, were among those on which Japan counted when she took the gamble of war against the United States and Britain.

They were handed her in 1919 when the Allied and Associated powers assigned her the mandate for the former German islands which stretch across the equatorial Pacific from the Philippines to the International dateline. These Japan, in breach of her pledges, converted into a 3,000-mile row of unsinkable aircraft carriers capable of dominating nearly all movement in the Western Pacific.

Situation in Southwest
What has changed in the Southwest Pacific is the Japanese tactics. Washington authorities quoted in Associated Press dispatches yesterday called the new phase "aggressive defense," which seems a sound description. The Japanese command apparently feels that a series of strong local attacks, unrelenting pressure, will prove the best means of accomplishing its strategic mission. The main Japanese purpose, the evidence indicates, still is to protect the rich empire conquered last year, holding the distant barbers as long as possible.

Meanwhile General Kenney's army continues to exact a forty per cent toll on the enemy raiding squadrons. No force can long sustain such a rate of loss.

Night Shift Movie
Pleases Baltimore
BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—Baltimore's war workers have gotten their night shift movie—and they like it.

The manager of a movie house which held a post-midnight show today declared it "a great success," and scheduled another for next Wednesday.

"If it does as well," he added, "we'll make early morning showings a regular practice."

Workers at the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyards last week petitioned for the early morning shows and said it was the first step in a campaign to get round-the-clock recreation for war workers.

of our conviction that it is impossible for us to tell the truth."

OWI is now dominated, they declared, by "high-pressure promoters who prefer slick salesmanship to honest information."

Davis Gives "Facts"
Davis in a statement of report, asserted "we deal in one plain commodity—the facts the people of this country need to win the war. All facts must be presented accurately and in proper proportion. Emotional appeals of the type usually associated with promotional activities are not applicable to war problems. We are content to be judged by our output."

The success of the food management program, the OWI report said, depends on the co-operation of many groups: large production by farmers and victory gardeners, good planning and administration by the government, careful buying and looking by housewives, enlargement of the farm labor supply from many sources, and many other forms of co-operation.

CAN AXIS DUPLICATE DUNKERQUE?

AS AMERICAN, British and French troops push the Axis forces of Von Arnim and Rommel into the corner of northern Tunisia, the possibility increases that the enemy may be forced into a wholesale evacuation similar to that of the British at Dunkerque in 1940. This map, based on data of the British Information Service, compares probable Axis problems of withdrawal with those the British solved.

Youth Convicted Of Sabotage in Work as Welder

George Arnold Steele Admits "Slugging" in Shipyards

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—George Arnold Steele, 20-year-old Ohioan, was convicted of sabotage by a federal court jury late today.

Steele, formerly a resident of Franklin Furnace, Ohio, was charged with improperly welding a total of 660 inches of metal on two specific dates, one in February and the other in March. He was then employed at the Bethlehem-Fairchild shipyards.

Steele, the father of an 11-month old child, admitted he had "slugged" steel—a welding procedure which steps up production but results in hazardous workmanship. He asserted he did not know that slugging was wrong.

Did Like Others
He said other welders at the shipyards did the same type of work and denied that he knew other men had been discharged for the practice.

Steele declared he had never been given any instruction in welding, but company officials told the jury that the defendant had been given a classroom course in welding and was permitted to observe other welders before being put to work.

Steele said he had worked at the shipyards a little more than a year.

Worked Part Time
T. Barton Harrington, government prosecutor, produced company records tending to show that Steele was absent from work more than half of the time and that during February he worked only five days. The prosecutor said the defendant earned about $15 a day when he did work.

Judge William C. Coleman, who presided, said he would sentence Steele on Monday.

British, French

arm continued its heavy assaults against Axis Tunisian airbases, of which fifteen still exist, and also struck at the enemy's rear bases in Sardinia.

Flying Fortresses of the "strategic air force" again led the onslaught, bombing El Mas and Monferrato in Sardinia and El Aouina near Tunis. The Fortresses destroyed nineteen of the twenty-one enemy planes bagged during the day, and did not lose a single plane out of their formations. Spitfires accounted for the other two Axis planes.

Bomb Nazi Airplane
Light and medium bombers of the "tactical air force" concentrated on La Sebala airbase eight miles north of Tunis. RAF Blaisys and French bombers participated in this raid and observers reported fires dotted the field upon their departure.

Malta-based fighters again struck at Sicilian targets last night in the co-ordinated effort to paralyze Marshal Rommel's supply and communication lines.

But it is a stubborn problem the Allies have in trying to immobilize enemy air power. Runways always can be repaired in a comparatively quick time, and as long as the Axis continues to draw upon its reserves the sky struggle is bound to continue.

An announcement by the United States army air forces today said "the entire dockyard area of Ferryville, which is vitally important to the flow of Axis supplies into North Africa, has been devastated by the northwest strategic air force."

While many of the deferments have been granted by District of Columbia boards, the committee added, the blame for any "abuses" rested with the agencies or industries making the requests.

Many Marylanders Marooned on Isle By Truck Crash

TAYLOR'S ISLAND, Md., April 15 (AP)—Several hundred persons living in the Taylor's Island section were virtually isolated from the mainland today when a huge truck plunged through the draw of the only bridge linking the island and mainland.

A big ten-wheeled truck, enroute from a nearby cannery to New York city with a load of canned tomatoes, cracked the draw of the bridge in two and plunged into the water.

Late today it had not been raised, although much of the canned goods had been taken from the water.

Thomas Stack, driver of the truck which was owned by E. Roscoe Willey of Cambridge, jumped safely from the vehicle before it plunged into the water.

The bridge had been under repair for some time, and Dorchester County Commissioner L. D. T. Noble said the State Roads Commission had been planning to construct a new draw. One approach to the bridge had recently been rebuilt.

Between 200 and 300 persons live on the island, and most now rely on boats to reach the mainland. Roads officials were not immediately available, but residents of the island said it would be several weeks before the bridge could be placed in operation again.

British Army Looks Good to Italians

BERN, Switzerland, April 15 (AP)—The British army now is a model for Italian troops who once looked upon German military discipline and ability as unsurpassed, a Rome dispatch to the Tribune De Geneve said today.

(A Rome broadcast heard in London Wednesday night called the British Eighth army "the finest fighting force in the world today" and said "it represents the most modern and most powerful fighting unit to be found anywhere.")

The dispatch, apparently trying to tell more than censors would permit, also reported that authority which had been taken away from Italian officers and entrusted to Nazi superiors now had been returned as part of an effort to reorganize the battered Italian army.

Income Tax Office
Swamped with Mail

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 15 (AP)—The income tax division of the state comptroller's office has fallen behind in attempting to keep pace with the huge incoming volume of returns, chief deputy comptroller Joseph McCusker declared today.

He stated that Monday would be the earliest date when recording of the returns would be resumed.

No tabulations of returns have been made since Tuesday noon, when the comptroller's office reported $453,480.35 received in partial or full payment in 18,459 returns.

Thirty-eight members of the Annapolis office have been working in the Baltimore branch for the past few days in an effort to clear returns before the midnight deadline tonight.

committee in Washington controlling military priorities.

It was noted that Lieutenant General George C. Kenney, MacArthur's air chief recently in Washington to attend special conferences of the chiefs of staff committee, stressed the replacement factor in a statement today in New Guinea.

Allies Outnumbered
"I don't like to be outnumbered," Kenney said, noting that Japanese air losses could be quickly replaced while it took time to fill gaps in the Southwest Pacific air force.

We are forced to shoot down four or five to one to keep the score straight. That's a pretty heavy burden on the boys. I'd like to tell them they could shoot down one for one and still be all right."

Housewives Get OPA Warning on Poultry Prices

Ceiling for Grade A Chickens Announced at Baltimore

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—The state Office of Price Administration warned housewives today to be on the alert during the coming pass-over and Easter season against paying higher than ceiling prices for grade A chickens.

Present supplies, OPA said, are "very light" owing to a heavy demand. "The statement is being made in an effort to stamp out any tendency on the part of retailers to participate in the black market," OPA added.

Ceiling prices are:
Broilers—Live, weight under three pounds, 36 cents; dressed, under 2 1/2 pounds, 41 cents; drawn, under 1 1/2 pounds, 60 cents.

Fryers—Live, 3 to 4 pounds, 38 cents; dressed, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds, 42 cents; drawn, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds, 61 cents.

Light roasters—Live, 4 to 5 1/2 pounds, 41 cents; dressed, 3 1/2 to 5 1/2 pounds, 46 cents; drawn, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 pounds, 64 cents.

Heavy roasters—Live, 5 1/2 pounds and over, 44 cents; dressed, 5 1/2 pounds and over, 48 cents; drawn, 3 1/2 pounds and over, 66 cents.

Light kosher fowl—Live, under 4 pounds, 31 cents; killed, over 3 pounds, 37 cents; dressed and plucked, 38 cents.

Heavy kosher fowl—Live, under 5 pounds, 41 cents; killed, over 5 pounds, 41 cents; dressed and plucked, 42 cents.

Boston Night Club
Owner Jailed

BOSTON, April 15 (AP)—Night club owner Barnett Welansky, his face as expressionless as it was during the four weeks of his trial, tonight began serving a twelve to fifteen years sentence "at hard labor" on manslaughter charges resulting from the Cocoanut Grove holocaust that took 490 lives last November 28.

A few hours earlier, when Welansky appeared in Suffolk superior court for imposition of sentence, a defense counsel motion for a stay was denied and Attorney Herbert F. Callahan immediately indicated he would appeal.

The courtroom was crowded and many of the curious were forced to stand in the corridors outside as Judge Joseph L. Hurley pronounced concurrent twelve to fifteen years sentences on each of the nineteen manslaughter counts on which Welansky was convicted.

Whiteside Joins War Production Board

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Arthur D. Whiteside, president of Dun and Bradstreet, financial reporting firm, today was named War Production Board vice chairman in charge of civilian supply. He will take over duties performed by Joseph L. Weiner, who disagreed with WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson on ways to tackle civilian supply problems.

Nelson, in announcing Whiteside's appointment, said he hoped Weiner, now head of the Office of Civilian Supply, would remain as assistant to Whiteside.

AFL Members of War
Labor Board Score
Hold-the-Line Order

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—AFL members of the War Labor Board today asserted that the president's hold-the-line executive order is a "flagrant violation" of the no-strike agreement and they believe it is "neither sound in construction nor workable in practice."

They issued their statements in the case of the Universal Atlas Cement Company in which the board unanimously recommended a wage increase, refusing to allow any pay raise for the correction of inequalities on grounds that the executive order prohibited it.

Meade Soldiers Given Training Under Real Fire

Seventy-Sixth Infantry Division Learns Much about War

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., April 15 (AP)—This business of training for battle under actual fire is nothing new to the U. S. army as a whole, but now it has come to the Seventy-Sixth infantry division at Fort Meade.

From Buck Private to Maj. Gen. W. R. Schmidt, division commander, the order of the day is crawling over rough terrain erupting in mine explosions while machine-gun bullets whine overhead.

It's part of the teaching given men so they'll know how to act—and think—while under fire.

The "infiltration course," as it is called, was modeled after one studied by the division's officers at Camp Hood, Texas.

Located in a remote section of the Meade reservation, even the approaches are realistically barren and scarred with the tracks of battle vehicles.

Typical was the experience of the Three-hundred and Second field artillery battalion.

The men arrived, eager to "get it over with," but Major Raymond J. Bork warned them that it was not a foot race and "keep your heads, legs and arms down."

Hardly had the battalion reached the top of the first earthen embankment when a land mine went off, machine gun fire began and everybody flopped to the ground and slithered across the rough field.

Meanwhile officers barked orders, other explosive charges blasted dirt high in the air and overhead bullets whizzed by just thirty inches from the ground.

Everybody got through—but they knew they'd been some place.

Anne Arundel Farmers
Want 4,050 Workers

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 15 (AP)—Anne Arundel county farmers agreed at a meeting this week that "boys and girls and women, who don't know a horse from a cow, will have to be employed on farms this summer if the bean and other crops are to be saved."

Stanley E. Day, county agent, estimated that 4,050 workers "not now in sight" will be required to harvest the local crops.

Annapolis girl scout authorities pledged their support in trying to round up the necessary supply and declared that 75 to 100 girls from the local troops would volunteer to work on farms this summer.

Day also stated that county schools would co-operate in enlisting the needed workers.

Under the "work-or-fight" order passed during the recent session of the General Assembly, county police officials said 5,000 notices would be posted throughout the county notifying men they "must work or go to jail."

Aside from the need of bean pickers, Day added that tomato, tobacco, hay, corn and silage workers would be required to fill the quota of 4,050.

Russia Takes Over
Railway Transport

LONDON, Friday, April 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that in Russia "a small undisciplined minority is disorganizing the railway transport so vital in wartime" and that as a result the supreme Soviet has ordered all railways to operate under military law.

The broadcast, heard by the Soviet monitor, said that the order mobilizes all railway workers for the duration of the war and makes them responsible for "all misdeeds." Delinquents will be judged by military tribunals, Moscow said.

Wallace in Ecuador
QUITO, Ecuador, April 15 (AP)—Vice-President Henry A. Wallace arrived here today from Peru on his Latin American tour.

President Arroyo Del Rio and all his cabinet met Wallace at the airport and escorted him in automobiles through the crowded streets to the residence of the wealthy planter, Carlos Mercado, where the vice-president will stay while in Quito.

or any other vital Allied position, but on the contrary probably were preoccupied with holding and exploiting what already had been taken.

(The MacArthur spokesman's reference to the presence of a Japanese fleet at Truk had the effect of answering a recent declaration by Secretary of the Navy Knox that there was no sign of the presence in South Pacific waters of an enemy fleet big enough to carry an Australian invasion.)

The third Japanese air attack in force within four days against Allied positions in New Guinea was thrown in yesterday against Milne Bay. Of an estimated enemy fleet of seventy-five to 100 planes, fifteen were destroyed for certain and another fifteen—for a presumed total of thirty—most probably.

This brought to a probable total of ninety-one the number of enemy planes destroyed in the three Japanese raids, in which the enemy used an estimated aggregate of 220 planes.

Americans Asked To Give Hitler Many Presents

Editor Believes People Should Remember Adolf on Birthday

By JAMES D. WHITE
WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—With a third of their thirteen billion dollar second war loan drive in the bag, Americans today were figuring out fancy birthday presents for Adolf Hitler next Tuesday in the form of still more war bond purchases.

As ideas to "hit Hitler with war bonds" popped up around the nation, secretary of the treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said:

"The push isn't over. Our problem is to reach the man in the street with bond sales, and that's still ahead."

He said the man in the street had bought only $320,000,000 of the five and one-quarter billion in government securities sold thus far in the drive.

Small Purchases Needed
The treasury has indicated that it hopes to sell the ordinary bond purchaser around two billion dollars worth of bonds in April.

Meanwhile, apparently originating in Washington, Pa., an American idea went the rounds.

Wouldn't it be nice, suggested Editor Austin V. McClain of the Washington Observer, if Americans bought war bonds as birthday presents for Adolf Hitler?

Adolf didn't plan it that way, but his birthday falls smack in the middle of the second war loan drive—next Tuesday, April 20.

Chances are that on this, his fifty-fourth birthday, few Germans are likely to pause very long to mark their fuhrer's birthday.

There's a strong possibility that this birthday isn't going to go off with as much of a bang as in days of yore.

Unless.....

Presents for Adolf
Well, as Editor McClain suggests, Americans could buy enough bonds that day to pay for various lovely presents for Adolf.

The army offers some bargains in suggested gifts.

A 100-pound general purpose bomb, for instance, costs only $41.63. The army air force will deliver it to Adolf in Berlin.

You may want to go higher. A general purpose bomb up to 4,000 pounds may be had for $872.42, which is guaranteed to make a big impression on the recipient.

Large scale buying makes this bargain price possible.

Hand grenades are particularly apt this season. The army offers a wide range in choice, from .73 to $2.75.

Or a walkie-talkie radio comes for $200.

Youth Arrested,
Wants "Horus Corpus"

OMAHA, April 15 (AP)—A 17-year-old youth, held for incorrigibility, was demanding his rights under questioning of Omaha Police Captain Harry Green.

"I know my rights and my law," he shouted. "I want a lawyer."

"What kind of a lawyer do you want?" Green said.

With a knowing look the youth replied: "Don't give me that stuff. You know the kind I want. The kind that can get me a horpus corpus—but quick!"

League Will Observe
Hitler's Birthday

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—The Baltimore Senior Charity League is planning to celebrate Adolf Hitler's birthday next Tuesday.

On that day the league will open its own war bond campaign to provide Hitler with some birthday presents of ammunition, planes, ships, tanks and bombs.

ported to have destroyed two enemy planes. Two American aircraft were missing, RAF Ventura bombers escorted by fighters attacked shipping and docks at Cherbourg in France, planted strings of bombs on Le Havre airfield and scored direct hits on German defense works under construction west of Fecamp.

(A German high command communiqué, broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press, said bombs fell on residential quarters of Stuttgart and that the population suffered losses. It claimed the destruction of twenty-three British planes in the raid and said another five were downed over the coastal district of occupied western territory.)

Other Places Attacked
The air ministry news service reported that Nazi railway communications in Northern France also were attacked during the night by RAF fighters and that Whirlwinds on night patrol damaged two enemy vessels in a low-level attack near LeTreport on the French coast.

Again throughout today formations of Spitfire fighters streaked across the channel to challenge the Nazi air force and to shoot up enemy communications in Northern France.

Pullman Slayer White Man, New Witness Asserts

Folkes Could Not Have Killed Mrs. James,
Porter Says

ALBANY, Ore., April 15 (AP)—The possibility that a white man may have slain Mrs. Richard F. James, navy bride was injected by the defense today in the lower birth 13 murder trial of Robert L. Lee Folkes, negro dining car cook.

A negro porter, H. M. Hughes, who was called to the witness stand by the prosecution, testified under cross-examination that he heard Harold Wilson, marine corps private and one of the state's main witnesses, describe the supposed slayer as a white man.

Wilson, occupant of upper 13, heard Mrs. James scream peered from his berth to see a man running toward the rear end of the car. He testified Monday that he was unable to tell whether the man was white or black. He insisted that he had never told anyone that the man was white.

Hughes said he and another porter, N. L. Shaw, heard Wilson say definitely a few hours after the killing that the man who fled from the car was white.

Lomax, through cross examination, attempted to show that Folkes could not have wielded the knife that almost severed Mrs. James' head as she lay in her berth on January 28. Folkes was busy in the dining car galley, preparing breakfast, the defense insists.

Hughes testified that he saw Folkes at work six or seven minutes after discovery of the crime. The porter said he went to the rear of the train, seeking the assailant, and noticed Folkes in the dining car galley.

Lomax tried strenuously to show that Folkes must have been at work before and during the time the assailant crept into Mrs. James' berth.

He elicited from Hughes that fifteen to twenty minutes after her death he saw the porter Shaw eating a muffin that Folkes had taken from the oven a few minutes before.

"I used to be a cook," Hughes testified. "And I know it takes from ten to fifteen minutes to bake muffins."

In recent examinations by Prosecutor Weinick, Hughes said he was in a washroom with Folkes before the slaying was discovered. He estimated this was forty or forty-five minutes before Mrs. James screamed.

Germany Bringing Pressure on Finland

STOCKHOLM, April 15 (AP)—Increasing German pressure was reliably reported tonight to have forced the government of Finland near to a crisis last weekend amid indications that a political shake-up, especially among pro-German officials, is pending in Helsinki.

The most important of the shifts expected to be made includes the removal or transfer of Secretary General Pakaslahti, who holds the position in the Finnish foreign office which is comparable to that of the American undersecretary of state.

Burke Rejects Plan
For Six-Day Week

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Operators of southern Appalachian soft coal mines told Secretary of Labor Perkins today that her proposal for a guaranteed six-day work week for bituminous miners "must be motivated solely by a desire to increase the income of the miners."

Edward R. Burke, the operators' spokesman, said in a telegram to Miss Perkins that acceptance of the proposal, which also calls for time-and-a-half pay for all hours over thirty-five per week, would violate the recent "hold-the-line" decree of the president in that it would constitute "a clear wage increase."

Northern as well as southern bituminous mine operators, in separate joint wage conferences with the United Mine Workers, have rejected the recommendation which was made through Dr. John R. Steelman, chief federal conciliator, as a basis for continued negotiations.

O'Connor To Act Today
On 100 Bills

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 15 (AP)—Governor O'Connor said today he would take action on approximately 100 legislative bills tomorrow.

O'Connor has not signed or vetoed any bills passed

Wise, Selective Spanking Helps To Train Child

Physical Pain Also Prepares Tot To Profit from Chair Sitting

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

For years I have been entreating parents to test the value of the chair-sitting punishment. I don't claim to have invented it, but I think I am the first psychologist to expound its value and I have talked and written about it more than anybody else.

I have also been the first psychologist, I think, to keep before the public, year after year, the desirability of using physical pain as a means of establishing wholesome restraints in the young child.

Related Punishments

Selective spanking of the tot and restraint through having him sit doing nothing for a definite period of time are closely related. Wise, selective spanking prepares the young child to profit from the chair-sitting punishment. As soon as the latter can be made effective the former can be abandoned.

Always I have had in mind this objective—to establish in the child the unambiguous meaning of NO (cautiously used) as the alphabet of safety, character and citizenship, at a time when it can be learned most readily and at least cost to the child and his parents.

Accordingly, many wise parents have been able to abandon spanking of the youngster before he entered school and still have disciplined him to respect constituted authority at six or sixteen without his ever being whipped or flogged. But the teen-age youngsters who were never effectively restrained before the age of six, make up the large group of youths today whose parents have little or no control over them.

Parents Report Success

Scores of parents are writing me from over the United States and Canada to say that my advice on early control has worked, and many of them express deep satisfaction over having discovered how very little spanking they had to use and how early they were able to abandon spanking and shift to the chair-sitting punishment. Some, indeed, whose children now are in their early teens say that just because they had established control early they are able to enjoy their adolescents, and to protect them with very little show of parental authority.

These parents who wish to have specific directions for establishing effective control of the youngster from about one to five, may find it in my special bulletin, "Teaching Tot Meaning of NO," to be had without cost by writing me at 235 East Forty-fifth street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Should a mother press her high school son's trousers?

A. Certainly not, unless he is a cripple.

Q. My three-year-old boy will run all over the store and seize anything he can reach at the grocer's.

A. Hold him by his hand in the store until after you have trained him at home in the meaning of NO. Exactly how to do this is described in my special bulletin, "How to Teach the Tot the Meaning of NO."

Rumors That Need Sifting

SOME IDLE GOSSIP has been indulged in lately in the community which this newspaper believes has been doing an injustice to its leading industrial establishments and to the local draft boards.

Some pretty wild statements have been directed at deferments at the big local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, and perhaps some of the other leading industries of the city. It would be well for those who hear such allegations to sift them down to the rock bottom of fact.

The Celanese plant is currently employing about 10,900 workers, and it is a pretty fortunate thing for the community in view of war conditions generally that it has such a going concern, which has been classified as an essential industry for civilian use and which is also taking an increasingly important part in war production.

Of the total number of employees, Celanese has released 2,500 men for the armed services, which is a pretty fine ratio. But, contrary to some of the street gossip heard, actually but 170 deferments have been made, a number considerably less than has been requested. Deferments here have been for top key men and supervisors, and more particularly for chemistry experts, engineers and other technical groups whose services are absolutely essential for continued operation of the plant and who cannot be replaced. At present, 2,097 men of draft status remain at the plant and are subject to call, but replacement schedules have been filed with the Selective Service headquarters in Baltimore to provide for an orderly withdrawal of these workers without disruption of production.

The corporation management has been working co-operatively with the local draft boards, and has so regulated its employment that these boards have not suffered any embarrassment from it on the matter of deferments. And in this connection it is only fair to note that the draft boards have achieved a high rating on this score among draft boards over the country.

Like a lot of the loose war program statements we hear on the curbstone nowadays, these rumors about the local industrial plants should not be bandied about carelessly, inasmuch as they can easily be tested at authoritative sources, and they might do the community as well as the government real harm. The safest thing is to take for granted only such information as comes through the press or over the radio. The gossip business is dangerous.

D'Alesandro Does A Patriotic Bit

WE HAVE ABUNDANT EVIDENCE that Americans of Italian descent, even of Italian birth, are patriotically supporting the Allied cause not only in exerting war efforts in common with other citizens but also in doing what they can to make others of the same race appreciate the unhappy fact that Italy has been put to its present plight by incompetent leadership and false ideology.

Among those doing yeoman service in the latter work is Representative Thomas D'Alesandro, of this state, who has been speaking on OWI broadcasts beamed to Italy. He has been telling Italians in their own language the fact, which its government doubtless fails to tell them, that the retreating Germans in North Africa have been leaving Italians as rearguards. In view of such treatment, D'Alesandro urged Italian seamen to leave the Afrika Korps stranded on the beaches of Tunisia, which they will probably do on hearing that information.

Identifying himself as "one of the 6,000,000 Americans of Italian descent in the United States who watch with sick hearts the German betrayal of Italians in North Africa," D'Alesandro told the Italian seamen that their countrymen were being used as gun fodder to cover German escapes and that Italians were being "maimed, slaughtered and abandoned that Germans may get away."

That is the Nazi way, the inevitable result of the Nazi philosophy, which has selfishness at its rotten core.

Inviting Avenue For the Allies

FROM SICILY TO CRETE the Germans are feverishly preparing for invasions. Certainly the reinforcement of the Middle East armies with more Americans, the visit of a Turkist military mission to North Africa, the progress of the Tunisian campaign, and the progressive willing of Italian morale all tend to verify German suspicions.

The Germans know what desperate

steps are being taken to keep Italy, Rumania and Bulgaria in the war. They, more than anyone else, know how often these same allies have been betrayed—as, for instance, in the repeated "sacrificing" of Italian troops by Rommel in his retreat across North Africa.

Crete was bought dearly by the Germans two years ago when they lost their best paratroopers. The defense of Crete (and a few weeks before of Greece and Yugoslavia) was also terribly expensive for the Allies. But it was a costly victory, for the Germans were so decimated that they did not press on into Turkey.

Instead, they soon found themselves embroiled with Russia, and so their eventual defeat became obvious even to themselves. Crete is now being made into a second Malta and the Germans have also taken over from the Italians preparations for possible summer fighting in the Balkans.

The Germans are trying to whip up the Bulgars, particularly, for a final defense of their country by playing on the old Slav hate of the Turks. But pan-Slavism grows daily in the Balkans, and there are hundreds of thousands in Bulgaria, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia who today regard the great Slav union of the Russian Soviets as their only immediate salvation.

Certainly the Adriatic, like the Flanders and Netherlands coast, offers an inviting avenue for the Allies, with their water and air supremacy, to attempt invasions of continental Europe this summer. The bombings looking toward such operations are being constantly stepped up. Allied naval preparations also indicate an invasion plan.

Should Younger Folk Have the Ballot?

TALK CONTINUES about giving the vote to youth 18 years of age. This week's program of America's Town Meeting of the Air, one of the leading radio forums, had the subject up for discussion, for example.

The movement has received some impetus from organizational effort, letters having been sent to all the state legislatures by March of Youth, Inc., which has offices in Washington and is headed by Clifford H. Scott, 49, of Arkansas, who reports that resolutions for lowering of the voting age have been introduced in various legislatures. Also Representative Lane, of Massachusetts, has introduced a joint resolution in the House providing for a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age.

Youth organizations report that they never heard of Scott or his organization, but he is pretty well known in his home state and in the upper councils of the Democratic party, that is, what now sells under that name. He has raised a good deal of money for the party political campaigns. Maybe there is some connection here.

Anyway, Scott was discredited on the question in his home state, its Senate having refused by a four-to-one vote to refer to its voters a proposed constitutional amendment.

The most damning thing yet arising against the proposal, in the opinion of this newspaper, is the fact that this group of youngsters to whom it is proposed to extend the responsibility of suffrage is precisely the group of which forty-two per cent in the recent New York Times survey were unable to name any two specific powers granted to Congress by the constitution and otherwise displayed a spectacular ignorance of American history and government.

When our schools and colleges get around to teaching a bit more about American history and American government, it will be time enough to extend the vote to the eighteen-year-olds.

The fellow who used to be photographed with a five-pound bass is hopeful that he will be able to pose before the camera this year with a couple of one-pound tomatoes.

The Worst of All Wives

By MARSHALL MASLIN

If his wife adores her husband and thinks he's perfect—

If she praises everything he does—

He's on the road to ruin.

He's in danger of being spoiled.

He's living with a human being who is too early satisfied.

If he brings home a mouse as the spoils of the hunt, she makes as much fuss as though he were dragging home an elephant.

If he tells her of a petty triumph or a trivial bit of praise he received that day — and she glows with pride over Her Man's accomplishments—then what chance has THAT fellow ever to anything really big?

He's lost. He's gone. Or at least he isn't going anywhere. Because he has the worse of all wives and doesn't know it.

If she threw a stove-lid at him, he'd divorce her. But she tosses a cheap compliment at him and he snaps it up as a puppy does a scrap of meat.

If she drank to the point of intoxication or tried to get him drunk, he'd be furious. But she intoxicates him with the sense of his own importance—and he's delighted.

If she were unfaithful to him in the usual way, he'd be unhappy. But his adoring wife is unfaithful to him in another way; she is destroying his character; and he thinks she is perfect.

The adoring wife elings. She hampers. She is a burden to the man who marries her. He doesn't know it, and neither does she. She thinks she is his Blessed Angel, but she is, instead, his Accursed Circle who makes swine of her men. She is the Worst of All Possible Wives.

At one time she was as numerous as the passenger pigeons that darkened the sky in flight. But now she's getting to be as rare as the old man of the mills who hasn't yet ridden on a railroad train.

She's gone and soon she may be extinct.

But not forever. Man's vanity will bring her back. He'll sigh for the Old-Fashioned Wife who ruled a man with adoration and she'll come running back with her soft-liquid eyes and ribbons and ruffles and feminine ways. And spoil him all over again.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT has announced that Dr. Harold Willis Dods, president of Princeton University, will head a group of four United States representatives to the Anglo-American Conference on Refugee Problems soon to be held at Bermuda.

Post-War League Not Impossible, Stewart Says

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

Effecting some sort of a post-war league of the United Nations may prove to be difficult but not necessarily quite impossible. True, the attempt was a flat enough fizzle after the last conflict. Still, that job notoriously was bungled. All hands realized it at the time. Their difficulty was that none of them ever had had any experience at getting back to normalcy following strife on such enormous proportions. Perhaps that taught them a lesson that they will profit by in the current generation. Possibly some few alleged statesmen remain left over, who know already the general principles of good management in emergencies of world proportions. Nevertheless, their number is limited.

We have got a handful here in the United States. Britain has another handful. That sums them up, approximately.

Recent Development
Totalitarians are of recent development. Chaps like Hitler, Mussolini and their followers do not recall personally, what their predecessors went through in the process of being extinguished. They figure that this is a new thing and that they can get away with it.

But when we come to an all-around settlement? We and the British appear to be solid.

We and the Latin Americas are solid likewise, with the possible exception of Argentina—and that does not amount to much, either. It isn't big enough to signify—though it is irritating. At worst, it will be indefinitely grouchy, and that will wear off, if only for commercial reasons. It is a freak in not having been assimilated already.

Next, there are sure-enough, overrun United Nations (governments in exile.)

Dependable Units
They can be depended on absolutely—if they can get away with it.

Further, there are some neutrals—for instance Spain and Turkey.

Of course, we will agree with the British and doubtless with the Russians (for awhile)—and then the little nations, and the disorganized French—and with the Chinese.

But what about the Germans? (The Italians hardly signify.)

They can be licked, of course, for the present, but will that end them?

And the Japs?
Apparently those two are in the same classification identically.

Better Beer for Soldiers
The brewing industry is not seriously alarmed by the agitation for the country's return to a prohibition basis. Nevertheless, it isn't neglecting to remind taxpayers of the revenue raising merits of its product. It also is seeing to it that our troops are duly warned of a campaign to place a ban upon a form of refreshment obviously pretty popular among them.

One thing the brewers would like is a slight increase in the alcoholic content of drinks they are permitted to sell upon military premises. For civilian bar purposes the alcoholic production runs up to or a trifle above a four per cent average and the brewers believe it is a somewhat more palatable beverage than the cantonment article.

An increase probably won't be pressed for very hard, however, on the ground that such an effort might furnish the dregs with additional ammunition for their fight to re-establish absolute aridity throughout America. Furthermore, the doughboys' verdict that what they are getting now is reassuring.

The industry is somewhat at a loss, though, to determine just how adequately our troops overseas are being provided for.

Shipping Handicap
The volume brewed for them is readily ascertainable but the amount delivered is more uncertain. It takes shipping, of course, to transport and that is at a premium. Nevertheless, quite a few barrels of beer can be wedged here and there into ordinary cargo space. It appears that our overseas contingent prefers, on an average, its home stuff to what it is able to obtain locally. Army men, too, consider it better for them obtained at our own canteens than scouted for in foreign surroundings.

Naturally, this demand will increase tremendously as more and more of our men are landed abroad and it has the brewers already guessing to be sure of providing for them adequately.

Secrecy Will Not Work
From the Pittsburgh Press

As a concession to protests by the press, members of Congress, and his own expert advisers against his secrecy plan for the United Nations food conference, the president has decided to arrange two open sessions at the start and finish. Otherwise the press is to be barred even from entering the grounds of the Hot Springs hotel where the conference meets, and from talking with delegates. The news is to be limited to official pap which the president sees fit to feed the public through the press.

In short, Mr. Roosevelt is as determined as ever to prevent legitimate news coverage of these negotiations which so directly affect the public interest.

This policy is so absurd on its face that we can't figure out why an executive of the president's intelligence and experience would attempt it. One explanation is that the conference is to make some slick deals which can't stand the light, but we don't want to believe that.

Another explanation is that the president with his well-known flair for showmanship wants to assure the largest possible publicity for the conference, and is restoring to the classic pep-show device to stimulate curiosity. But we doubt he would be that frivolous when so much is at stake.

We don't know the answer. We don't know why he should want to keep such a non-military affair secret. And we don't know why, even if he wants to, he thinks he can get away with it.

The net effect will not be injurious to the press but it will hurt the administration, and it may harm American interests.

Maryland Farm Musings
By the Extension Service of the University of Maryland

Hatchery reports indicate that more chicks will be bought by farmers than ever in the history of the country. Most farmers apparently are anxious to do their part to help beat the Axis. Brooder houses, range shelters, and laying houses are all likely to be overcrowded, says Morley A. Jull of the University of Maryland poultry department. He cautions that mortality may be excessive and growth may be retarded in spite of the best intentions of flock owners.

When every effort is being made to get the greatest production possible, extra care in preparation of the seed bed is more important than usual, according to John W. Magruder, specialist in agronomy for the extension service. A soil ready for planting, he says, should be fine, firm, and free from clods.

A price support program for wool has been announced by the department of Agriculture in order to maintain the production of domestic wool and protect growers from losses that would be incurred if the stockpile were suddenly disposed of.

Gardening this year amounts to a lot more than a way to get whole-some exercise or to blow off patriotic steam. These small plots can turn out an amazing amount of food.

When every effort is being made to get the greatest production possible, extra care in preparation of

Hitler First Policy Forced by Churchill Is Viewed As Risking Long Pacific War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Roosevelt, according to the judgment of Prime Minister Churchill, has assumed the biggest risk of the war—a readiness to let our forces take it on the chin in the South Pacific while Japan builds up her air and ground forces for a major attack on United Nations bases in Australia and New Guinea.

Gen. MacArthur's plea for more air strength has been regrettably denied. America is to consider Japan only after Hitler is beaten—maybe a year or two or three years from now.

Meanwhile, Japan with an empire of natural resources, gets the time to forge machine tools with which to make more bombers and more ships, more submarines and more destroyers to carry on against our smaller fleet and smaller air force.

As long as Japan can keep the fight thousands of miles away from her mainland, she can continue to gain the time she needs to build up her shipping and to copy the latest models of American bombers and fighter planes.

Today Japan has managed to keep the battle areas far away from her shores. A look at any map will reveal that Tokyo is on the same latitude line as Norfolk, Va., and that New Guinea and the northern coast of Australia are on the same line as Peru and Ecuador.

Held below Equator
Japan, therefore, has kept our troops and air forces down below the equator on a line parallel with Peru and Ecuador, which is nearly 3,000 miles to the south of New York city—a distance comparable to the space across the Atlantic to Europe. Small wonder that the Japanese feel that their arsenal is safe and that they can, within another couple of years, build up sufficient strength to fight at least a stalemate with the United Nations. They certainly cannot have any hope of winning—unless, of course, winning to the Japanese means holding the United Nations away from the mainland of Japan and wearing out our forces with a war that lasts from three to seven years.

Gen. MacArthur and his air commander, Gen. Kenney, have laid all the facts before the Washington government. The same facts were laid before the British and American governments long before the air generals came to Washington for their recent conferences. But the decision was to concentrate on beating Hitler. This doesn't mean that all reinforcements were denied but that the wishes of our commanders for an adequate force to tackle Japan this year and prevent her from consolidating her position were not granted.

Time Favors Japs
As long as our planes can knock out lots of Japanese airmen from the skies, the American people will doubtless feel that we are making progress. An objective appraisal will not bear out such optimistic assumption. For time runs in favor of the Japanese right now—they have been given time already to build a string of air bases from the western end of the Netherlands East Indies to Timor, the easternmost point near Australia—an expanse of more than 2,000 miles. This means that a ring of air power—a kind of Maginot Line of the air—is being built up which is capable of harassing our bases and certainly capable of keeping us on the defensive for months and months to come.

Meanwhile, our navy, which has already made deeper sacrifices of men and ships than the small force we have should have been asked to bear, will remain more or less stagnant in the Far Pacific—unable to carry on an offensive because of a lack of air umbrellas. For the one thing that the war in the Southwest Pacific has demonstrated is that naval vessels which can operate within the protective range of land bases are useful and that any other naval power must keep in hiding. Clear, if we had aircraft carriers, our navy could take the offensive but we have lost the bulk of our aircraft carrier strength. So have the Japanese.

Air Power Needed
The Japanese, however, have what may be called land-based aircraft carriers in the forms of dozens of bases supported by ground troops. Gen. MacArthur, in a blunt statement which could only have been issued because he felt it was time to tell the truth, points out that Japan controls the sea lanes to Australia and that unless she can be knocked out of the skies, our positions will continue to be menaced.

If there should be a debacle for us in the Pacific, the blame will rest squarely on President Roosevelt, as the British prime minister is not accountable to the American people. The prayers of all of us must be that the president will be proved right and that our present air strength will take care of the defense. But it is unhappily a fact, on the other hand, that we are not giving either the army or the navy enough weapons to start an offensive against Japan for some time to come. This means a long, long war unless the policy is changed soon.

Post-War Policies At Washington Undergo Change

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 15—The administration's post-war and economic policies seem to be changing—perhaps veering—is a better word.

Often in the past, Mr. Roosevelt has used sailing technique toward his objectives, tacking first to one side, then the other. The permanency of current symptoms of change is therefore not firmly established.

Undersecretary of State Welles, in his last speech, did not again mention an "international police force," but spoke of "preserving peace by force," which is another thing.

Mr. Welles occupies a position greater than his title and is a consummate classicist in the use of diplomatic language. His moderation of phraseology, therefore, must be considered significant, especially as he is handling much of the duties of secretary of state these days.

This change reflects an inner realization down through government diplomatic authorities that developments of this war from now on will have more to do with making the post-war world than any words that can be said now.

Russian Victory a Factor
If Russia manages to accomplish the victory, a wholly different set of peace circumstances may be presented than if the victory is wrought by Anglo-American action.

Some authorities like Navy Secretary Knox also are beginning to imply that it is more important for our post-war peace for the United States to hold bases in the Pacific than it is to enter upon pious pronouncements of brotherly love.

The island of Guadalcanal for which we are fighting so heartily is—few stop to think—a British possession. The airfield we have fought so valiantly to defend would normally become a British airfield at the cessation of hostilities.

In the future war world, it is obvious that many Guadalcanals will be more essential to the security of our shores than any other factor.

Another Set Seen
Mr. Churchill, in his recent statements, has indicated Britain and Russia are getting more and more together, if this proves true in fact as well as word, another set of post-war circumstances will confront us.

There appears no truth to the rumors that Litvinoff might return home and thus offer us a Red diplomatic goodbye with gloved hand. Litvinoff has laughed off such suggestions, saying he can do more good here.

But certainly all these conditions make it evident the post-war world will be fixed by future negotiation, not by what Washington officials may have wanted in the first place.

Firmer Price Policy
The changes in domestic economic policies of this government are clearer cut. The administration move to freeze prices and wages at long last now carries a ring of sincerity and determination.

It should have been done a year or more ago, but the New Deal economists desired to let wages run up, promising a freezing in the end. This now appears to be the end.

A peculiarly favorable political situation furnishes weight to Mr. Roosevelt's freezing intentions. The John L. Lewis wage increase demands and the Senate side-tracking of farm bloc claims in the Bankhead bill have brought the A. F. of L. and, even somewhat reluctantly, the CIO, into a new position of alarm against inflation.

Up to now, they have wanted to run wages up. But with the farm bloc holding over labor's head the power to increase prices (by passing the Bankhead and Pace bills in Congress at any time), the president has been able to gather powerful labor and farm support for a firming of the anti-inflation policies.

A Super Plane
Officialdom knows nothing about Russia's post-war intentions than you do. Apparently there have been no conversations. . . .

. . . . The lightning interceptor (Lockheed P-38, twin Allison engines) plane has developed a reputation as a super plane in the Tunisian fighting. It climbs like its name, practically straight up, is faster, has better protection than the Nazi ships, and is classed as maneuverable. Bugs have been ironed out. Pilots and war authorities class it with the Spitfire and Flying Fortress as one of the three outstanding planes of the war. . . .

. . . . MacArthur's Air General Kenney and others are supposed to be very much disappointed with their Washington plane mission. Production is enough to furnish them the ships, but the shipping situation is tight. They say the Japs are digging in everywhere in conquered territory, and will be very hard to get out if allowed to go on for some months.

World Becoming More Tolerant, Letters Reveal

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage. Copyright 1943. King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Not long ago a letter came to this column which has brought much comment because of the unusual situation it disclosed. An unmarried girl who was going to have a baby went to the wife of the child's father, told her the story and asked for help. The wife took the girl in and decided to adopt the child. She had no children. Her husband, a soldier overseas, while not denying the paternity of the child, declined to assume any responsibility because he claimed to love his wife.

From letters coming to this column about the unusual situation, it would seem the world is becoming increasingly tolerant. More women endorsed the wife's action in taking in the girl and adopting the baby than condemned her.

From San Antonio comes the following:

"My hat is off to this woman. I can understand why she wants to shelter this girl, and since the baby is her husband's child and she herself has no children, this little child will probably mean more to her than one she would adopt. It may be because they have no children that her husband's affections strayed, and this baby will be the means of bringing them more closely together."

From Chicago comes a different point of view:

"I'm not a saintly person and it would not be well for any girl who is about to bear a child of whom my husband is the father, to come to me seeking protection. She would not get it, and I only hope I would be able to control my feelings sufficiently not to add to her troubles by abusive language."

New Yorker Writes

From Staten Island, New York, a woman writes:

"I wish I knew your correspondent who agreed to take in the girl abandoned by the woman's husband and adopt this child. That would be a friend worth having. It would be a happier world if more of us had the same divine gift of charity."

Los Angeles writes:

"I'm puzzled over the behavior of the woman who opened her door to her husband's discarded mistress and agreed to adopt the child as her own."

"The woman's sister thought her conduct not quite normal, isn't she perhaps a flagellant, one who gets a certain satisfaction from scourging either body or soul, a fanatic who enjoys suffering?"

"This column is still open to readers who would like to comment on this unusual situation. We'll publish some of the letters received."

For a long time now I have expected the worm to turn—the feminine worm who keeps the home fires burning, cares for the family and yet is continually reminded to keep herself primed to the nth degree, either to get a man, or keep the one she has, tethered. But a war worker who thinks the men should make themselves acceptable to sweethearts and wives expresses it better than I.

"The other evening I gulped a soda-counter dinner from a high stool in a drug store and went off to a government auditorium to hear some woman hold forth on how to keep ourselves looking lovely for the men." "Army Wife."

"The talk was addressed primarily to defense workers who were urged to be clean, wear becoming clothes and speak beautifully so when our sweethearts and husbands returned from 'Over There' they would find us prettier than when they sailed away."

Girls Know Answers

sincerely that he's coming back as he went away—incontaminated.

"Some of the things I've been reading in the papers about conditions around army camps are truly alarming to any wife."

"Instead of lending a government auditorium for talks on beauty, hand-dos, facials and such, why doesn't the government give more thought and energy to cleaning up conditions around army camps? As I overheard an army officer ask the other day in a street-car: 'Are we fighting war or running a beauty parlor in Washington?'"

"Girls don't need advice on make-up; they know all the answers, and I doubt if any defense worker has been in Washington twenty-four hours without knowing her way to the nearest beauty shop."

Old Saw Is "Balder-Dash" "The old saw about the man with the perfect mousetrap having a pathway beaten to his door is balderdash when it comes to girls beating their way to a beauty shop. In one of these government-sponsored beauty talks I attended, not a word was said in the budget distribution about putting something by for dentist or doctor's bills. "It's a truism that woman does best work when she isn't worried about her appearance. But to think of nothing else is to put a low I. Q. on the sex. As an army wife I'd be delighted to contribute to a fund which would send male beauty experts to the various army camps to tell the boys nothing improves their looks like good clean morals," concludes "Army Wife."

Family Allowances

My husband and I are separated but not divorced. He is a staff sergeant and refuses to make an allotment to me. Is there any way I can get some of his money, as I know he makes enough to send some to me? I need it very badly, as I am unable to work. Also, please let me know about his insurance. Can he name anyone as his beneficiary, or does he have to name me?

(MRS.) J. E. H.

You are not entitled to the family allowance contributed by the government, as your husband's grade does not entitle you to it. However if you are in financial difficulties, write to your husband's commanding officer, and see if he can persuade your husband to make an allotment to you, which will be deducted from his pay every month and sent to you. The insurance need not be compulsory. If your husband wishes to take out insurance, he may name as beneficiary his wife, children or parents, brothers and sisters.

Rumors That Need Sifting

SOME IDLE GOSSIP has been indulged in lately in the community which this newspaper believes has been doing an injustice to its leading industrial establishments and to the local draft boards.

Some pretty wild statements have been directed at deferments at the big local plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, and perhaps some of the other leading industries of the city. It would be well for those who hear such allegations to sift them down to the rock bottom of fact.

The Celanese plant is currently employing about 10,900 workers, and it is a pretty fortunate thing for the community in view of war conditions generally that it has such a going concern, which has been classified as an essential industry for civilian use and which is also taking an increasingly important part in war production.

Of the total number of employees, Celanese has released 2,500 men for the armed services, which is a pretty fine ratio. But, contrary to some of the street gossip heard, actually but 170 deferments have been made, a number considerably less than has been requested. Deferments here have been for top key men and supervisors, and more particularly for chemistry experts, engineers and other technical groups whose services are absolutely essential for continued operation of the plant and who cannot be replaced. At present, 2,067 men of draft status remain at the plant and are subject to call, but replacement schedules have been filed with the Selective Service headquarters in Baltimore to provide for an orderly withdrawal of these workers without disruption of production.

The corporation management has been working co-operatively with the local draft boards, and has so regulated its employment that these boards have not suffered any embarrassment from it on the matter of deferments. And in this connection it is only fair to note that the draft boards have achieved a high rating on this score among draft boards over the country.

Like a lot of the loose war program statements we hear on the curbstone nowadays, these rumors about the local industrial plants should not be bandied about carelessly, inasmuch as they can easily be tested at authoritative sources, and they might do the community as well as the government real harm. The safest thing is to take for granted only such information as comes through the press or over the radio. The gossip business is dangerous.

D'Alesandro Does A Patriotic Bit

WE HAVE ABUNDANT EVIDENCE that Americans of Italian descent, even of Italian birth, are patriotically supporting the Allied cause not only in exerting war efforts in common with other citizens but also in doing what they can to make others of the same race appreciate the unhappy fact that Italy has been put to its present plight by incompetent leadership and false ideology.

Among those doing yeoman service in the latter work is Representative Thomas D'Alesandro, of this state, who has been speaking on OWI broadcasts beamed to Italy. He has been telling Italians in their own language the fact, which its government doubtless fails to tell them, that the retreating Germans in North Africa have been leaving Italians as rearguards. In view of such treatment, D'Alesandro urged Italian seamen to leave the Afrika Korps stranded on the beaches of Tunisia, which they will probably do on hearing that information.

Identifying himself as "one of the 6,000,000 Americans of Italian descent in the United States who watch with sick hearts the German betrayal of Italians in North Africa," D'Alesandro told the Italian seamen that their countrymen were being used as gun fodder to cover German escapes and that Italians were being "maimed, slaughtered and abandoned that Germans may get away."

That is the Nazi way, the inevitable result of the Nazi philosophy, which has selfishness at its rotten core.

Inviting Avenue For the Allies

FROM SICILY TO CRETE the Germans are feverishly preparing for invasions. Certainly the reinforcement of the Middle East armies with more Americans, the visit of a Turkish military mission to North Africa, the progress of the Tunisian campaign, and the progressive wiling of Italian morale all tend to verify German suspicions.

The Germans know what desperate

steps are being taken to keep Italy, Rumania and Bulgaria in the war. They, more than anyone else, know how often these same allies have been betrayed—as, for instance, in the repeated "sacrificing" of Italian troops by Rommel in his retreat across North Africa.

Crete was bought dearly by the Germans two years ago when they lost their best paratroopers. The defense of Crete (and a few weeks before of Greece and Yugoslavia) was also terribly expensive for the Allies. But it was a costly victory, for the Germans were so decimated that they did not press on into Turkey.

Instead, they soon found themselves embroiled with Russia, and so their eventual defeat became obvious even to themselves. Crete is now being made into a second Malta and the Germans have also taken over from the Italians preparations for possible summer fighting in the Balkans.

The Germans are trying to whip up the Bulgars, particularly, for a final defense of their country by playing on the old Slavic hate of the Turks. But pan-Slavism grows daily in the Balkans, and there are hundreds of thousands in Bulgaria, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia who today regard the great Slav union of the Russian Soviets as their only immediate salvation.

Certainly the Adriatic, like the Flanders and Netherlands coast, offers an inviting avenue for the Allies, with their water and air supremacy, to attempt invasions of continental Europe this summer. The bombings looking toward such operations are being constantly stepped up. Allied naval preparations also indicate an invasion plan.

Should Younger Folk Have the Ballot?

TAIK CONTINUES about giving the vote to youth 18 years of age. This week's program of America's Town Meeting of the Air, one of the leading radio forums, had the subject up for discussion, for example.

The movement has received some impetus from organizational effort, letters having been sent to all the state legislatures by March of Youth, Inc., which has offices in Washington and is headed by Clifford H. Scott, 49, of Arkansas, who reports that resolutions for lowering of the voting age have been introduced in various legislatures. Also Representative Lane, of Massachusetts, has introduced a joint resolution in the House providing for a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age.

Youth organizations report that they never heard of Scott or his organization, but he is pretty well known in his home state and in the upper councils of the Democratic party, that is, what now sells under that name. He has raised a good deal of money for the party political campaigns. Maybe there is some connection here.

Anyway, Scott was discredited on the question in his home state, its Senate having refused by a four-to-one vote to refer to its voters a proposed constitutional amendment.

The most damning thing yet arising against the proposal, in the opinion of this newspaper, is the fact that this group of youngsters to whom it is proposed to extend the responsibility of suffrage is precisely the group of which forty-two per cent in the recent New York Times survey were unable to name any two specific powers granted to Congress by the constitution and otherwise displayed a spectacular ignorance of American history and government.

When our schools and colleges get around to teaching a bit more about American history and American government, it will be time enough to extend the vote to the eighteen-year-olds.

The fellow who used to be photographed with a five-pound bass is hopeful that he will be able to pose before the camera this year with a couple of one-pound tomatoes.

The Worst of All Wives

By MARSHALL MASLIN

If his wife adores her husband and thinks he's perfect—

If she praises everything he does—

He's on the road to ruin. He's in danger of being spoiled. He's living with a human being who is too early satisfied. If he brings home a mouse as the spoils of the hunt, she makes as much fuss as though he were dragging home an elephant. If he tells her of a petty triumph or a trivial bit of praise he received that day — and she glows with pride over Her Man's accomplishments—then what chance has THAT fellow ever to anything really big?

He's lost. He's gone. Or at least he isn't going anywhere. Because he has the worse of all wives and doesn't know it.

If she threw a stove-lid at him, he'd divorce her. But she tosses a cheap compliment at him and he snaps it up as a puppy does a scrap of meat.

If she drank to the point of intoxication or tried to get HIM drunk, he'd be furious. But she intoxicates him with the sense of his own importance—and he's delighted.

If she were unfaithful to him in the usual way, he'd be unhappy. But his adoring wife is unfaithful to him in another way; she is destroying his character; and he thinks she is perfect!

The adoring wife clings. She hampers. She is a burden to the man who marries her. He doesn't know it, and neither does she. She thinks she is the Blessed Angel, but she is, instead, his Accursed Circe who makes swine of her men. She is the Worst of All Possible Wives.

At one time she was as numerous as the passenger pigeons that darkened the sky in flight. But now she's getting to be as rare as the old man of the mills who hasn't yet ridden on a railroad train.

She's gone and soon she may be extinct. But not forever. Man's vanity will bring her back. He'll sigh for the Old-Fashioned Wife who ruined a man with adoration and she'll come running back with her soft-liquid eyes and ribbons and ruffles and feminine ways. And spoil him all over again.

Post-War League Not Impossible, Stewart Says

Central Press Columnist

Effecting some sort of a post-war league of the United Nations may prove to be difficult but not necessarily quite impossible. True, the attempt was a flat enough fizzle after the last conflict. Still, that job notoriously was bungled. All hands realized it at the time. Their difficulty was that none of them ever had had any experience at getting back to normalcy following strife on such enormous proportions.

Perhaps that taught them a lesson that they will profit by in the current generation. Possibly some few alleged statesmen remain left over, who know already the general principles of good management in emergencies of world proportions. Nevertheless, their number is limited.

We have got a handful here in the United States. Britain has another handful. That sums them up, approximately.

Recent Development

Totalitarians are of recent development. Chaps like Hitler, Mussolini and their followers do not recall personally, what their predecessors went through in the process of being extinguished. They figure that this is a new thing and that they can get away with it.

But when we come to an all-around settlement?

We and the British appear to be solid.

We and the Latin Americas are solid likewise, with the possible exception of Argentina—and that does not amount to much, either. It isn't big enough to signify—though it is irritating. At worst, it will be in definitely grouchy, and that will wear off, if only for commercial reasons. It is a freak in not having been assimilated already.

Next, there are sure-enough, overrun United Nations (governments in exile.)

Dependable Units

They can be depended on absolutely—if they can get away with it.

Further, there are some neutrals—for instance Spain and Turkey.

Of course, we will agree with the British and doubtless with the Russians (for awhile)—and then the little nations, and the disorganized French—and with the Chinese.

But what about the Germans? (The Italians hardly signify.)

They can be licked, of course, for the present, but will that end them?

And the Japs?

Apparently those two are in the same classification identically.

Better Beer for Soldiers

The brewing industry is not seriously alarmed by the agitation for the country's return to a prohibition basis. Nevertheless, it isn't neglecting to remind taxpayers of the revenue raising merits of its product. It also is seeing to it that our troops are duly warned of a campaign to place a ban upon a form of refreshment obviously pretty popular among them.

One thing the brewers would like is a slight increase in the alcoholic content of drinks they are permitted to sell upon military premises. For civilian bar purposes the alcoholic production runs up to or a trifle above a four per cent average and the brewers believe it is a somewhat more palatable beverage than the cantonment article.

An increase probably won't be pressed for very hard, however, on the ground that such an effort might furnish the dregs with additional ammunition for their fight to re-establish absolute aridity throughout America. Furthermore, the doughboys' verdict that what they are getting now is reassuring.

The industry is somewhat at a loss, though, to determine just how adequately our troops overseas are being provided for.

Shipping Handicap

The volume brewed for them is readily ascertainable but the

Hitler First Policy Forced by Churchill Is Viewed As Risking Long Pacific War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 15—President Roosevelt, according to the judgment of Prime Minister Churchill, has assumed the biggest risk of the war—a readiness to let our forces take it on the chin in the South Pacific while Japan builds up her air and ground forces for a major attack on United Nations bases in Australia and New Guinea.

Gen. MacArthur's plea for more air strength has been regrettably denied. America is to consider Japan only after Hitler is beaten—maybe a year or two or three years from now.

Meanwhile, Japan with an empire of natural resources, gets the time to forge machine tools with which to make more bombers and more ships, more submarines and more destroyers to carry on against our smaller fleet and smaller air force.

As long as Japan can keep the fight thousands of miles away from her mainland, she can continue to gain the time she needs to build up her shipping and to copy the latest models of American bombers and fighter planes.

Today Japan has managed to keep the battle areas far away from her shores. A look at any map will reveal that Tokyo is on the same latitude line as Norfolk, Va., and that New Guinea and the northern coast of Australia are on the same line as Peru and Ecuador.

Held below Equator

Japan, therefore, has kept our troops and air forces down below the equator on a line parallel with Peru and Ecuador, which is nearly 3,000 miles to the south of New York city—a distance comparable to the space across the Atlantic to Europe. Small wonder that the Japanese feel that their arsenal is safe and that they can, within another couple of years, build up sufficient strength to fight at least a stalemate with the United Nations. They certainly cannot have any hope of winning—unless, of course, winning to the Japanese means holding the United Nations away from the mainland of Japan and wearing out our forces with a war that lasts from three to seven years.

Gen. MacArthur and his air commander, Gen. Kenney, have laid all the facts before the Washington government. The same facts were laid before the British and American governments long before the air generals came to Washington for their recent conferences. But the decision was to concentrate on beating Hitler. This doesn't mean that all reinforcements were denied but that the wishes of our commanders for an adequate force to tackle Japan this year and prevent her from consolidating her position were not granted.

Time Favors Japs

As long as our planes can knock out lots of Japanese airmen from the skies, the American people will doubtless feel that we are making progress. An objective appraisal will not bear out such optimistic assumption. For time runs in favor of the Japanese right now—they have been given time already to build a string of air bases from the western end of the Netherlands East Indies to Timor, the easternmost point near Australia—an expanse of more than 2,000 miles. This means that a ring of air power—a kind of Maginot Line of the air—is being built up which is capable of harassing our bases and certainly capable of keeping us on the defensive for months and months to come.

Meanwhile, our navy, which has already made deeper sacrifices of men and ships than the small force we have should have been asked to bear, will remain more or less stagnant in the Far Pacific—unable to carry on an offensive because of a lack of air umbrellas. For the one thing that the war in the Southwest Pacific has demonstrated is that naval vessels which can operate within the protective range of land bases are useful and that any other naval power must keep in hiding. Clear, if we had aircraft carriers, our navy could take the offensive but we have lost the bulk of our aircraft carrier strength. So have the Japanese.

Air Power Needed

The Japanese, however, have what may be called land-based aircraft carriers in the forms of dozens of bases supported by ground troops. Gen. MacArthur, in a blunt statement which could only have been issued because he felt it was time to tell the truth, points out that Japan controls the sea lanes to Australia and that unless she can be knocked out of the skies, our positions will continue to be menaced.

If there should be a debacle for us in the Pacific, the blame will rest squarely on President Roosevelt, as the British prime minister is not accountable to the American people. The prayers of all of us must be that the president will be proved right and that our present air strength will take care of the defense. But it is an unhappy fact, on the other hand, that we are not giving either the army or the navy enough weapons to start an offensive against Japan for some time to come. This means a long, long war unless the policy is changed soon.

David Lawrence

From the Pittsburgh Press

As a concession to protests by the press, members of Congress, and his own expert advisers against his secrecy plan for the United Nations food conference, the president has decided to arrange two open sessions at the start and finish. Otherwise the press is to be barred even from entering the grounds of the Hot Springs hotel where the conference meets, and from talking with delegates. The news is to be limited to official pap which the president sees fit to feed the public through the press.

In short, Mr. Roosevelt is as determined as ever to prevent legitimate news coverage of these negotiations which so directly affect the public interest.

This policy is so absurd on its face that we can't figure out why an executive of the president's intelligence and experience would attempt it. One explanation is that the conference is to make some slick deals which can't stand the light, but we don't want to believe that.

Another explanation is that the president with his well-known flair for showmanship wants to assure the largest possible publicity for the conference, and is resorting to the classic peep-show device to stimulate curiosity. But we doubt he would be that frivolous when so much is at stake.

We don't know the answer. We don't know why he should want to keep such a non-military affair secret. And we don't know why, even if he wants to, he thinks he can get away with it.

The net effect will not be injurious to the press but it will hurt the administration, and it may harm American interests.

Maryland Farm Musings

By the Extension Service of the University of Maryland

Hatchery reports indicate that more chicks will be bought by farmers than ever in the history of the country. Most farmers apparently are anxious to do their part to help beat the Axis. Brooder houses, range shelters, and laying houses are all likely to be overcrowded, says Morley A. Jull of the University of Maryland poultry department. He cautions that mortality may be excessive and growth may be retarded in spite of the best intentions of flock owners.

When every effort is being made to get the greatest production possible, extra care in preparation of the seed bed is more important than usual, according to John W. Magruder, specialist in agronomy for the extension service. A soil ready for planting, he says, should be fine, firm, and free from clods.

A price support program for wool has been announced by the department of Agriculture in order to maintain the production of domestic wool and protect growers from losses that would be incurred if the stockpile were suddenly disposed of.

Gardening this year amounts to a lot more than a way to get wholesome exercise or to blow off patriotic steam. These small plots can turn out an amazing amount of food.

Post-War Policies At Washington Undergo Change

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 15—The administration's post-war and economic policies seem to be changing—perhaps veering in a better world.

Often in the past, Mr. Roosevelt has used sailing technique toward his objectives, tacking first to one side, then the other. The permanency of change is therefore not firmly established.

Undersecretary of State Welles, in his last speech, did not again mention an "international police force," but spoke of "preserving peace by force," which is another thing.

Mr. Welles occupies a position greater than his title and is a consummate classicist in the use of diplomatic language. His moderation of phraseology, therefore, must be considered significant, especially as he is handling much of the duties of secretary of state these days.

This change reflects an inner realization down through government diplomatic authorities that developments of this war from now on will have more to do with making the post-war world than any words that can be said now.

Russian Victory a Factor

If Russia manages to accomplish the victory, a wholly different set of peace circumstances may be presented than if the victory is wrought by Anglo-American action.

Some authorities like Navy Secretary Knox also are beginning to imply that it is more important for our post-war peace for the United States to hold bases in the Pacific than it is to enter upon pious pronouncements of brotherly love.

The island of Guadalcanal for which we are fighting so heartily is—few stop to think—a British possession. The airfield we have fought so valiantly to defend would normally become a British airfield at the secession of hostilities.

In the future air world, it is obvious that many Guadalcanals will be more essential to the security of our shores than any other factor.

Another Set Seen

Mr. Churchill, in his recent statements, has indicated Britain and Russia are getting more and more together, if this proves true in fact as well as word, another set of post-war circumstances will confront us.

There appears no truth to the rumors that Litvinoff might return home and thus offer us a Red diplomatic goodbye with gloved hand. Litvinoff has laughed off such suggestions, saying he can do more good here.

But certainly all these conditions make it evident the post-war world will be fixed by future negotiation, not by what Washington officials may have wanted in the first place.

Firmer Price Policy

The changes in domestic economic policies of this government are clearer cut. The administration move to freeze prices and wages at long last now carries a ring of sincerity and determination.

It should have been done a year or more ago, but the New Deal economists desired to let wages run up, promising a freezing in the end. This now appears to be the end.

A peculiarly favorable political situation furnishes weight to Mr. Roosevelt's freezing intentions. The John L. Lewis wage increase demands and the Senate side-tracking of farm bloc claims in the Bankhead bill have brought the A. F. of L. and, even somewhat reluctantly the CIO, into a new position of alarm against inflation.

Up to now, they have wanted to run wages up. But with the farm bloc holding over labor's head the power to increase prices (by passing the Bankhead and Pace bills in Congress at any time), the president has been able to gather powerful labor and farm support for a firming of the anti-inflation policies.

A Super Plane

Officialdom knows nothing about Russia's post-war intentions than you do. Apparently there have been no conversations. . . .

. . . . The Lightning Interceptor (Lockheed P-38, twin Allison engines) plane has developed a reputation as a super plane in the Tunisian fighting. It climbs like its name, practically straight up, is faster, and has better protection than the Nazi ships, and is classed as maneuverable. Bugs have been ironed out. Pilots and war authorities class it with the Spitfire and Flying Fortress as one of the three outstanding planes of the war. . . .

. . . . MacArthur's Air General Kenney and others are supposed to be very much disappointed with their Washington plane mission. Production is enough to furnish them the ships, but the shipping situation is tight. They say the Japs are digging in everywhere in conquered territory, and will be very hard to get out if allowed to go on for some months.

World Becoming More Tolerant, Letters Reveal

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage. Copyright 1943, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Not long ago a letter came to this column which has brought much comment because of the unusual situation it disclosed. An unmarried girl who was going to have a baby went to the wife of the child's father, told her the story and asked for help. The wife took the girl in and decided to adopt the child. She had no children. Her husband, a soldier overseas, while not denying the paternity of the child, declined to assume any responsibility because he claimed to love his wife.

From letters coming to this column about the unusual situation, it would seem the world is becoming increasingly tolerant. More women endorsed the wife's action in taking in the girl and adopting the baby than condemned her.

From San Antonio comes the following: "My hat is off to this woman. I can understand why she wants to shelter this girl, and since the baby is her husband's child and she herself has no children, this little child will probably mean more to her than one she would adopt. It may be because they have no children that her husband's affections strayed, and this baby will be the means of bringing them more closely together."

From Chicago comes a different point of view:

"I'm not a saintly person and it would not be well for any girl who is about to bear a child of whom my husband is the father, to come to me seeking protection. She would not get it, and I only hope I would be able to control my feelings sufficiently not to add to her troubles by abusive language."

New Yorker Writes

From Staten Island, New York, a woman writes:

"I wish I knew your correspondent who agreed to take in the girl abandoned by the woman's husband and adopt this child. That would be a friend worth having. It would be a happier world if more of us had the same divine gift of charity."

Los Angeles writes: "I'm puzzled over the behavior of the woman who opened her door to her husband's discarded mistress and agreed to adopt the child as her own."

"The woman's sister thought her conduct not quite normal. Isn't she perhaps a flagellant, one who gets a certain satisfaction from scourging either body or soul, a fanatic who enjoys suffering?"

"This column is still open to readers who would like to comment on this unusual situation. We'll publish some of the letters received."

For a long time now I have expected the worm to turn—the feminine worm who keeps the home fires burning, cares for the family and yet is continually reminded to keep herself primed to the nth degree, either to get a man, or keep the one she has, tethered. But a war worker who thinks the men should make themselves acceptable to sweethearts and wives expresses it better than I.

"The other evening I gulped a soda-counter dinner from a high stool in a drug store and went off to a government auditorium to hear some woman hold forth on how to keep ourselves looking lovely for the men," writes "Army Wife."

"The talk was addressed primarily to defense workers who were urged to be clean, wear becoming clothes and speak beautifully so when our sweethearts and husbands returned from 'Over There' they would find us prettier than when they sailed away."

"Some of the things I've been reading in the papers about conditions around army camps are truly alarming to any wife."

"Instead of lending a government auditorium for talks on beauty, hairdos, facials and such, why doesn't the government give more thought and energy to cleaning up conditions around army camps?"

"I overheard an army officer ask the other day in a street-car: 'Are we fighting war or running a beauty parlor in Washington?'"

"Girls don't need advice on make-up; they know all the answers, and I doubt if any defense worker has been in Washington twenty-four hours without knowing her way to the nearest beauty shop."

Family Allowances

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My husband and I are separated but not divorced. He is a staff sergeant and refuses to make an allotment to me. Is there any way I can get some of his money, as I know he makes enough to send some to me? I need it very badly, as I am unable to work. Also, please let me know about his insurance. Can he name anyone as his beneficiary, or does he have to name me?

(MRS.) J. E. H.

You are not entitled to the family allowance contributed by the government, as your husband's grade does not entitle you to it. However if you are in financial difficulties, write to your husband's commanding officer, and see if he can persuade your husband to make an allotment to you, which will be deducted from his pay every month and sent to you. The insurance is not compulsory. If your husband wishes to take out insurance, he may name as beneficiary his wife, children or parents, brothers and sisters.

Spring Gap Home Nursing Class Completes Course

Certificates Will Be Presented at 1:30 o'Clock Today

The Spring Gap Home Nursing class will receive certificates at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Taschenberger, with Mrs. A. M. Lichtenstein making the presentations.

Mrs. Mary Bartlett has instructed the class of seventeen which was sponsored by the Mt. Tabor Women's Society of Christian Service.

A party will be held, following the awarding of the certificates. Mrs. C. L. Daniels is chairman of the program to be presented and refreshments will be served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Lloyd Twigg.

Woodmen Bowlers Will Be Feted

The Woodmen of the World bowling team will be honor guests at the annual Fraternal Bowling League post-season banquet at 7 o'clock this evening at Minke's Cottage Inn.

The Woodmen, winners of the second half, defeated the Patriotic Order Sons of America team, titleholders of the first half, by the slender margin of seven pins in the recent five game total-pin rolloff.

Other teams in the league are Fraternal Order Eagles, Shrine Club, Knights of Pythias, No. 60, Junior Order United American Mechanics and the DeMolay Alumni.

Charles Simpson is chairman of arrangements and is being assisted by Myron S. Landis, Lester I. Barnes and Blair V. Welsh.

BELT, HAT MATCH

Will Discuss Food

The second of the series of New War Time Food and Nutrition courses, under the auspices of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company will be held at 7 o'clock this evening in the Luke school.

Miss Thura G. Marshall, home service director for the Cumberland and Allegany Gas company, will conduct the meeting on "Planning Your Own Nutritious Meals." Booklets and meal planning charts to follow the government's seven point diet will be distributed.

Iowa is known as the Hawkeye state.

McKinley Chapter Will Entertain This Evening

McKinley Chapter, No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star will entertain officers and members of Cumberland Chapter, No. 56 at 8 o'clock this evening at the Masonic temple.

Mrs. Emma Miller, worthy matron, and John J. Robinson, worthy patron, with the other officers of the chapter will present a "Friendship" ceremony. The program will also include several selections by the Baltimore and Ohio Ladies Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. Viola Serf.

Following the meeting a social hour will be held and refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Young, past matron.

The Officers Club of McKinley Chapter was entertained by Mrs. Bessie Rizer, Mrs. Eleanor Morley, Mrs. Gertrude Stevenson and Mrs. Harriett Amick, Wednesday evening at Central Y.M.C.A. Prizes were won by Mrs. Ella Crabbe at bridge; Mrs. Bessie Koch at 500 and Mrs. Shirley Messman at set back.

Travelers Aid Society Re-elects Officers

Mrs. Nellie Wilson Foster was reelected president of the Travelers Aid Society at the meeting of the society Tuesday afternoon at the Central Y.M.C.A.

Other officers include Miss Ada Miller, first vice-president; Mrs. Ira Vandegrift, second vice-president; Mrs. William Lee, secretary; Mrs. William McCleary, treasurer and Mrs. M. J. Fleming, representative.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. William H. Blake. Because the February meeting had been cancelled Mrs. Fleming gave a report for February and March. It included forty-four contacts, thirty-nine investigations; twenty-two meals; and lodgings to seven.

One of the outstanding investigations was of a girl whose father wanted her to return home because she is a minor. She had gone to Baltimore where she was employed. All the reports about her were so good that finally her father agreed to permit her to remain there.

Mrs. William Claus represented the Woman's Civic Club at the meeting.

Lions Hold Ladies Night Party

The weekly meetings of the Lions club were paraphrased by the ladies under the direction of Mrs. Gilbert Reibbeck and Mrs. Edgar D. Vandegrift at the annual Ladies Night dinner held last evening by the club at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

French Sensabaugh gave his disquisition on Chick Sales' book and vocal selections by the Lions Club Quintet composed of Gordon Lee Bowie, Joseph K. Trenton, Lynn C. Lashley, J. Kenneth Snyder and John Park. Lester W. Heinrich led the group singing.

Chester Coughenour, manager of the Personal Loan Finance Company, who will leave April 26 to begin service with the United States Marines, was presented with a gift. A birthday present was given to Paul Meyers, Mr. Trenton presided at the party and Mr. Bowie served as toastmaster.

An informal social hour was held during the evening. Approximately sixty persons attended.

Pythian Sisters Will Observe Anniversary

Events in Brief

The Thomas-Burke Circle of the First Presbyterian church will meet at 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edmund S. Burke, 736 Washington street.

Members of the Allegany Hospital Nurses Alumni Association were entertained with a piano and violin duet by John and Michael Clancey and tap dance by their little sister, Patricia, following the meeting Tuesday evening at the nurses home.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Centre Street Methodist church will hold a dinner-meeting at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening in the social hall, with Mrs. Carroll McCracken presiding. Mrs. William Shockley will review the book, "On This Foundation." Miss May Simpson's Circle will serve the dinner.

The Cumberland Duplicate Bridge League will hold its annual banquet at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Cumberland Country Club.

Girl Scout Troop No. 2 will hold a court of awards at 7 o'clock this evening at the parish house.

Plan Joint Meeting

A joint meeting of the Rural Women's Short Course Club and the County Executive Council of Homemakers Clubs will be held at 1:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the cafeteria of Central Y.M.C.A. Miss Venus M. Keller, assistant director of extension at the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker. Her topic will be "Homemakers Part in the War Program."

Both clubs will hold a business meeting at 10:30 o'clock in the morning in the club rooms, with Mrs. Edward Lewis presiding at the Short Course meeting and Mrs. W. L. Maddocks at the Homemakers meeting. Each county chairman will report on the work accomplished. A discussion of war time projects, including victory gardens, clothing and food, will also be held. "Conservation and Thrift in All War Time Projects," will be the theme of the meeting.

Coins are often placed under the mast of a ship during construction.

CONSTIPATION HAD ME DOWN

Constipation really had me on the ropes. I'd take a medicinal laxative and get relief — but soon, the old trouble would return all over again.

It was constipation due to lack of "bulk" in my diet — the kind so many folks suffer from. So — I began eating KALOG's All-Bran regularly. It's a swell breakfast cereal, and it got directly at the cause of my constipation and corrected it.

If your constipation is due to lack of "bulk," why don't you try ALL-BRAN? Eat it regularly, drink plenty of water, and — Join the Regulars! Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek, Michigan.

Manhattan Temple To Celebrate Thirty-seventh Birthday Monday

Manhattan Temple No. 8, Pythian Sisters, will celebrate its thirty-seventh anniversary Monday with a special program, at 8:30 o'clock, to which a number of honor guests have been invited.

Mrs. Anna Jenkins will give an outline of the history of the organization; the Staff Club will present a play and musical selections will complete the program. A social hour will be held at the conclusion of the program.

Mrs. Margaret Hixson, grand chief, requests members be present at 7:30 o'clock for a business meeting.

MAPLESIDE CLUB WILL BUY BONDS

The Mapleside Homemakers Club voted to buy two $25 War bonds and to donate $5 to the Red Cross at the meeting yesterday afternoon in the recreation room of the home of Mrs. Arthur Arthur, 600 Ridgewood avenue, which it uses as a club room.

Mrs. F. R. Brotemarkle, welfare chairman, reported that a large number of members are doing something to help in the war work. The work included making surgical dressings, knitting, working at the control center and for the ration board.

Miss Maude A. Bean, county home demonstration agent, speaking on the Homemakers theme of "Conservation and Thrift in the War Effort," explained the different forms of mending; how to make mittens from woolen socks and heavy hose; and showed a woman's suit made over from a man's suit. She also urged the audience to plant herbs this summer even if they have to be planted in a window box. She suggested sage, marjoram and thyme.

Mrs. LeRoy Jewel presided and led the group in pledging allegiance to the flag. Mrs. Richard VanHorn read the story of the hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross," after which the group sang the hymn.

The next meeting will be held May 20, at Mrs. Arthur's home.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with stinging and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Sure enough they had the right hunch and uncovered the 600 checks in a bedroom at a farm home.

U. S. Draftees Give Civvies to Russians

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian civilians will soon be donning clothes contributed by Americans entering the armed forces.

Ninety-one draftees, four prospective WAACS and one SPAR took their civilian clothes to the Russian War Relief. Garments contributed by the servicemen and women will be used to clothe Russian civilians in recaptured areas and those evacuated from occupied territories.

PROTECT YOUR CAR AGAINST RUST AND CORROSION

Summer driving, with plain water in your radiator, will tend to build up rust and corrosion in the cooling system of your car.

THESE ARE DANGER POINTS!

1 THE RADIATOR

Rust tends to clog the radiator tubes. Result: your radiator loses efficiency in throwing off engine heat. And an overheated engine is liable to serious damage.

2 THE COOLING JACKET

Most rust is formed on the iron walls of the engine water jacket. Rust holds in heat. So, as the water jacket becomes more rust coated, your cooling system operates with decreasing effectiveness. Again the threat of overheating, which may result in serious engine wear, loss of power, waste of precious gasoline.

How to get Protection

When you drain your radiator this spring, look at the liquid. If it is rust free, and the radiator is clean, then simply flush with water. If the liquid is discolored, use a solvent cleaner—one with a dissolving action.

"Eveready" Cooling System Cleaner is an example. Your dealer should have it; directions are on the package.

The preventive service outlined above follows the policy recommended by the Office of Defense Transportation.

Ship's Doctor for Fifteen Years Has Had Many Unusual Experiences

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Dr. Rufus W. Hooker has followed the sea as a medical officer for fifteen years and has described his experiences in an autobiographical account, "Ship's Doctor" (published by Whittlesey House, New York, 1943). It is a very charming piece of anecdote.

Every time that I sail on a ship it is with recurring astonishment that I find a doctor aboard.

There are usually several other physicians who are traveling for pleasure, and the ship's doctor rounds us up and gets us all acquainted. We sit around and talk about the time when Mrs. Soandso was misdiagnosed by all the good doctors in Baltimore, Maryland, and Rochester, Minnesota, and then the ship's doctor is able to add an experience which tops all other narratives.

The Doctor's Story

Dr. Hooker starts out by telling the story that he was once called to the head office of the New York Steamship Company and the marine superintendent said to him, "doctor, the Argentine ambassador would like to book passage on this ship. Two competing lines have refused to accept the responsibility."

"When an ambassador can't book passage, it usually means severe illness. What is the matter with the ambassador?" asked Dr. Hooker.

"Myeloid leukemia," "How long do they give him to live?" asked Dr. Hooker. "Five days, Doctor."

"But it takes this boat seventeen days to get to Buenos Aires. Does he wish to be buried at sea?"

"No, that is the rub. The Embassy insists that Señor Enrico must reach his own country, alive if possible."

"I might prolong his life beyond five days; seventeen days is asking too much. . . . It means embalming."

Learns Embalming

After thinking it over, Dr. Hooker decided to take the case and consulted a mortician to whom he explained his problem. By dint of some eloquent persuasion (and a lodge pin identical to one in the mortician's lapel) he secured the instruction he needed, worked all night in the mortuary to acquire the skill and reached the dock the following morning one hour before sailing time—a part-fledged mortician.

The ambassador was forthwith put aboard and, as predicted, died with due regard to his physician's pronouncements on the thirteenth day out. He was embalmed by Dr. Hooker and is now resting with his ancestors in Buenos Aires. This is only one of many anecdotes which show the ability, thoughtfulness and good sense of the surgeons who follow the sea.

Questions and Answers

R. S.:—Can it be definitely determined whether or not a person has adrenal insufficiency, or Addison's disease? If so, what kind of test or examination should be made?

Answer: The diagnosis of Addison's disease is usually not difficult. The patient with weakness, low blood pressure, loss of weight, a brown discoloration of the skin—especially on the exposed parts—is a suspected case. If there is pigmentation in the mouth and under the tongue, it makes it more certain inasmuch as most cases are caused by tuberculosis. Putting a small section of skin under the microscope and the determination of changes in the potassium and sodium content of the blood are quite final.

A new individual ready-to-eat cereal package also serves as a bowl. After opening the package, the sealed wax paper bag inside is slit open and sugar and cream poured in.

Sponge diving was practiced by the ancient Greeks.

Trained for Defense Work

ALDERSON, W. Va., April 15 (AP)—The federal reformatory for women at Alderson is supplementing its production of self-support these days by turning out war materials.

Besides producing war materials, the institution also is preparing its inmates for possible work in defense plants when they complete their terms.

Inmates receive training as aircraft sheet metal workers with classes in this work conducted every day. The work includes riveting, drilling, layout work and the like.

After completing the course, the inmate is given a certificate showing that she is a qualified worker and will be eligible as a sheet metal worker.

"Fire Shower" Is Latest
Type of Entertainment

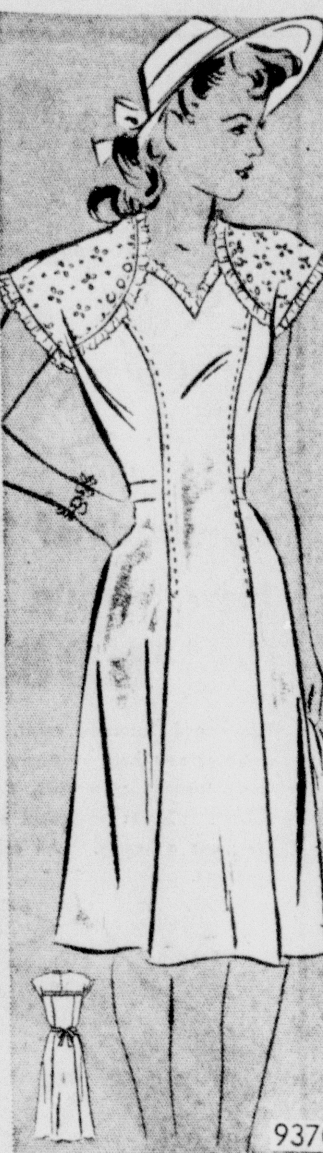

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., April 15 (AP)—Add "fire showers" to the latest list of entertainment the modern woman can plan.

Mrs. Eva Kidd of Fayetteville, who lost all her personal and household goods in a fire recently, was the guest of honor at a shower given by her daughters, Mrs. John Day and Miss Pauline Kidd.

Mrs. Kidd's friends from Fayetteville and surrounding communities gave her gifts replacing some of the articles destroyed in the blaze.

The ship's cook in the Navy must also shine the ship's bell.

Make this beguiling princess frock to wear on warm summer days. Marian Martin has given Pattern 9370 a smart new fashion note in tiny cap sleeves cut in-one with the yokes. You may accent them in contrast, as shown. There are pleats at each side of front skirt panel.

Pattern 9370 may be ordered only in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 requires two and three-fourths yards thirty-five inch; one-half yard contrast; three and one-eighth yards lace.

Send sixteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Write plainly size, name, address, style number.

An extra ten cents brings our Spring Pattern Book—a whole collection of economical wartime styles.

Send your order to The Cumberland News, Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth street, New York, N. Y. Delivery of patterns may take a few days longer than usual because of the heavy volume of mail.

Fifth Grade Boy Takes His Country to Heart

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., April 15 (AP)—Buddy Collins, student in the fifth grade at the Glenalum school, has the good of country at heart.

The other day Buddy had his hat torn by a group of boys who playfully "mistook" it for a football.

In order to impress upon the boys the necessity of caring for clothing, particularly during wartime, Principal Glenn Hatcher asked that each boy bring a dime with which to buy Buddy a new hat.

This they did, but Buddy went them one better and asked Hatcher to donate the money to the Red Cross. Needless to say, the principal was more than glad to do so.

Movie Projector Is Purchased For Beall High

Alumni Association Adds $105 to Teacher-Pupil Subscriptions

FROSTBURG, April 15 — In response to an appeal for aid in purchasing a motion picture projector for the school, the Beall High Alumni Association has contributed $105 to the fund raised by a special campaign conducted by the teachers and pupils.

In view of the fact that unless the machine is purchased now, it will be impossible to obtain one until after the war, a subscription plan was adopted whereby teachers would contribute $1.50 each and students fifty-cents.

Although the campaign was to last over a ten weeks' period, the teachers and pupils have already contributed eighty-five per cent of their pledges.

Because of the importance of visual aid in modern education, a projector and its accessories are a necessary part of the school's equipment.

Because of the contribution of the alumni association the machine will be paid for before the end of the school year. The projector is a Victor and was purchased from Robert Davis, Cumberland.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Esther A. Jennings, daughter of William and the late Elizabeth Thomas Jennings, Linden street, and Daniel T. Leatherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Leatherman, National. The ceremony was performed Monday evening, 7:30 o'clock, at St. Paul's Lutheran church by the Rev. Walter V. Simon, pastor.

The attendants were Anna Chapman and James E. Brode, both of Frostburg.

The bride wore light blue with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The maid of honor wore light blue with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The bride, a graduate of Beall high school, class of 1937, is employed at the Celanese plant. The bridegroom, a graduate of Beall high school with the class of 1942, left Wednesday for Fort George G. Meade to report for military duty. Mrs. Leatherman will reside with her parents for the duration.

Meyersdale Man Is Promoted to Rank Of Lieut. Colonel

Major George L. Foy Served as Sergeant in World War I

MEYERSDALE, April 15—Word was received recently by Mrs. Mary L. Foy, Grant street, that her eldest son, George L. Foy, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel at Fort Benning, Ga.

Lieut. Col. Foy is now the highest ranking army officer from Meyersdale, with the exception of Brig. Gen. Morris C. Handwerk who, since the entrance of the United States into the present war, has been stationed as a military instructor at Fort Edwards, Mass.

Lieut. Col. Foy served as a sergeant in World War I in France with Company C, United States Volunteers, but at the time Co. C, commanded by Capt. W. Curtis Truxal, received its baptism of fire in the Second Battle of the Marne, July 15-16, 1918, and most of its men were killed, wounded or taken prisoner. Sgt. Foy was absent on detached duty as a signal officer. He was later sent back to his home town to act as recruiting officer for volunteers to join the A. E. F. in France. He was still engaged in this work when the Armistice was signed.

After Pearl Harbor, Sergt. Foy was called into active service with the rank of major and assigned to the training of troops at Fort Benning.

William S. Miller Dies

William S. Miller, 88, one of the oldest residents of Meyersdale, died at the family home, 102 Salisbury street, yesterday.

A son of Samuel J. and Mary (Lichty) Miller, he was born in Meyersdale December 17, 1854, and had resided here all his life. His father lived to be 96 years of age.

Mr. Miller was an inventor and manufacturer, and for a number of years his products, including washing machines and labor-saving attachments for threshing machines, had a national market.

He was a member of the Church of the Brethren and served as clerk of the congregation for many years. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Clara Miller; a brother and three sisters, Daniel L. Miller, Confluence; Mrs. Annie L. Cupp, Somerset township, and Eliza and Mary Miller, both of Meyersdale. A brother and two sisters preceded him in death.

Personals

I. J. Bradburn returned yesterday from Lonaconing, where he was summoned because of the serious illness of his brother, John Bradburn, and also to attend the funeral services of an aunt, Mrs. David Muir, who died at Rock Springs, Wyo., and whose body was interred in Oak Hill cemetery, Lonaconing.

Mrs. Josephine Atkinson returned yesterday from a ten-day visit with Mrs. Salkeld and children, Van-dergift, and also with friends in Pittsburgh.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Is Victim of Blackmail In Hagerstown

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 14 (P)—A 10-year-old boy bought a bow and arrow in a hardware store and led City Detective Wayne Sellman to one of the strangest "blackmail" cases he ever ran up against.

The youth offered a $20 bill in payment, then returned a few minutes later for another archery set and presented another $20 bill.

The proprietor, Hubert H. Schindler, held the boy for police inquiry. The boy admitted he had been taking the bills from a cache of $1400 his father had hidden in a piano. Sellman said the youth reported that ten companions, who had helped him spend the money, threatened to tell his father if he stopped supplying them with money. The father was not aware the money was being taken although the boy and his friends had already spent $500, Sellman said.

Berkeley County Men In Service Number More Than 1,400

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., April 15 (P)—More than 1,400 Berkeley county men are now in uniform or have seen service in the armed forces since World War began, records of the draft board showed.

About 130 have been discharged in recent months for overage and other reasons, leaving a total of approximately 1,300 on duty with the various branches of the army and navy.

This includes 1,092 who have been cleared through the selective service board and 343 non-registrants, such as those already in the services at the time of registration.

Victory Garden Craze Makes City Dwellers Plow Up Lawns

BECKLEY, W. Va., April 15 (P)—This Victory garden craze, if it can be termed that, has grown to such an extent that city dwellers are even plowing up nice, level lawns and turning them into vegetable sites.

As a matter of fact gardening has grown to such proportions hereabouts that County Health Agent H. B. Thomas reports an SOS went out for men who can handle a plow.

W. R. Taylor of Mabscott, tells of plowing up some of the nicest lawns he has ever seen, "right up to the wall of the houses."

Henry Henckel Dies Suddenly In Mt. Savage

Former Railroader Suffers Paralytic Stroke While Visiting Here

MT. SAVAGE, April 15 — Henry Henckel, 80, died suddenly early yesterday morning following a paralytic stroke at the home of his brother and sister, Lawrence Henckel and Misses Martha, Emma, and Edna Henckel, Glen Savage Farm, where he had been visiting since last summer.

Mr. Henckel was a son of the late Valentine and Catherine (Snyder) Henckel. A machinist by trade, he served his apprenticeship in the Mt. Savage Machine Shops of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad company. Soon afterward he accepted a position with a railroad company in San Antonio, Texas, where he had been a resident until his visit here. In this community he was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic church.

Other survivors are his widow, Mrs. Mary Hall Henckel, San Antonio; two sons, Edward and Gerald Henckel, San Antonio; a brother, Edward Henckel, Cleveland, Ohio; and two sisters, Miss Lulu Henckel, Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Grace Henckel, Parsons, W. Va. He is also survived by five grandchildren. The body has been sent to San Antonio for burial.

Brief Events

The Mt. Savage Brick and Clay worker's union will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Junior Order hall.

The Mt. Savage Girl Scout troop met Tuesday night in the recreation hall of the Methodist church. It was decided that all former members of the troop will be invited to register at the next meeting. Various activities were planned for the summer schedule of the troop. Mrs. Thomas Adams and Miss Maude Houck, members of the troop committee were guests of honor at the meeting.

Legality of Joint Bank Accounts Is Tested in Court

Mrs. Mahala J. Green Tells Court About Frank V. Custer's Money

Mrs. Mahala J. Green was on the witness stand in circuit court yesterday for nearly an hour, as attorneys questioned her in the equity case brought by Mrs. Ella Michael and Mrs. Clementine Michael, sisters of and administratrixes for the estate of Frank J. Custer, 59, a Garrett county reclusive who died June 14, 1942.

Suit was brought against Mrs. Green by the sisters in an effort to recover a sum of money deposited in two local banks in the joint account of Mrs. Green and Custer. Horace P. Whitworth, attorney for the Michael sisters, attempted to prove that Mrs. Green had obtained the money by using undue influence over Custer and that Custer had not been competent to look after his own affairs.

Lived at Green Home

It was shown during the case that Custer had resided at Mrs. Green's home for several years and her attorney, Edward J. Ryan, attempted to show the court that Custer had voluntarily placed his money in joint bank accounts as a gesture of gratitude and appreciation for kindnesses rendered by Mrs. Green.

Custer was in ill health for some time, it was indicated in the testimony, but witnesses said he had been normal in his conversation and actions and they believe that he acted of his own free will in most of the things he did.

Mrs. Green said she had wanted to give her a deed to a farm he owned and that for about two years he had tried to give her his money by establishing joint accounts. She said she had repeatedly refused to accept anything from him, but finally accompanied him to the Second National and First National banks here and he established joint accounts.

When Custer died in the Reeves clinic at Westernport, he had $1,237 in the Second National Bank and $1,207 in the First National Bank. The accounts dated from January 1942 and prior to that time had been in the name of Custer alone.

Closed One Account

A few days after Custer's death, "six or seven days," according to Mrs. Green, she closed the account at the Second National Bank, but was restrained from closing the other account by the administratrixes, who then filed the court action to recover all the money.

A number of witnesses were in the court room, but several did not testify after attorneys agreed that there was no question about the sound mental condition of Custer.

Ryan told the court he would like to call a physician to the stand, and the case was then continued until Saturday morning. Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, who presided, said he would hear anything else the attorneys had to offer at that time.

Holiness Mission Church Will Be Dedicated Sunday

The Rev. D. M. Klavuhn, pastor, and members of the Holiness Mission church of Wiley Ford, Va., will dedicate their new church building at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in the first of a series of revival meetings, which will continue each night until Easter.

The services will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Klavuhn, who recently completed two years of service with this congregation. He will be assisted by John Dixon, who holds an exhorter's license in the First Methodist church, this city.

During the week the meetings will begin at 7:30 o'clock and special singing will be featured at each service.

The congregation has been meeting in the hall of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire company.

Second National Bank Will Handle Estate Of Allan B. Spier

At an appearance yesterday before the register of Wills of Allegany county, the Second National Bank of Cumberland and Helen Foster Spier were named co-administrators of the estate of Allan B. Spier who died April 9.

Mr. Spier, former trust officer and assistant cashier of the bank, had been associated with the institution over forty years.

Chicago Grain Market

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP)—Nervousness over the possibility of a ceiling on cotton, which some traders thought might be issued overnight, brought selling into the grain pits near the close today and prices cracked sharply within a few minutes.

Until the final minutes the market had been a dull affair. The late liquidation uncovered a scarcity of bids in wheat, oats and rye, but corn was unaffected by the drop in other pits.

Citation for Merit Will Be Given To Wade Thomas

KEYSER, April 15—Friday evening, April 16, in the high school auditorium Major J. P. Easley, United States Army, head of civilian defense protection, will present the Citation for Merit to Wade E. Thomas, civilian defense commander for Mineral county. Mr. Philip Cochran of the second district of civilian defense will be present.

Preceding the 8 o'clock meeting dinner will be served at 6 o'clock in Davis Hall. Potomac State college for the guest speakers, the Mineral County Civilian Defense staff and the staff of the city of Keyser. Commander Thomas requests all members of the Keyser Staff who have received arm bands to wear them to the meeting in the auditorium. The meeting is open to the public.

Miss Derry Marries

Miss Emily Blanche Derry became the bride of Sgt. Raymond Lee Baughman of Westernport at 8:30 o'clock this evening in the Bedford Street Methodist church, Cumberland. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. George E. Baughman, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Baughman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Derry, Keyser. She is a graduate of Keyser high school and Potomac State college and for several years has been employed in the Wendell Beauty Salon.

Sgt. Baughman is the son of Mrs. Q. J. Baughman, Westernport. He is a graduate of Westernport high school and the Southern Methodist university of Dallas, Texas. He entered the army in September 1941 and has spent some time in the Hawaiian Islands. After a short honeymoon trip to eastern cities, Sgt. Baughman will enter Officers Candidate school at Camp Davis, N. C.

The Keyser Rotary Club today accepted the sponsorship of the second war bond drive now underway. President Robert E. Miller appointed committees to wait on the several groups and organizations of the community. The committees will meet Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. James Funkhouser announce the birth of a son in Potomac Valley hospital early today.

The Townsend club will meet Friday evening at 7:30 at the home of Miss Sue Johnson.

Potomac Valley Chapter D. A. R. will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Miss Hallie Sayre.

Sunday School teachers and officers of the Lutheran church will meet at the church Friday evening at 7:15.

Three Deeds Filed; Two Involve No Exchange of Cash

Three deeds were filed for record yesterday at the office of clerk of court, Robert Jackson. Two of the deeds were transfers without consideration, but the third involved a sale price of about $1,500.

Clarence Lippel, receiver for the Edgewood Park Development Company conveyed to William P. Roeder, thirty feet frontage of Lynn street and lots Nos. 16 and 17 in block No. 9 in the Rose Hill addition. The corporation was dissolved April 5, and the transfer was made as a part of the dissolution. There was no cash involved.

Frederick W. Wiltison sold to Glenn C. Watson and Ethel M. Watson, lot No. 90 on Cresap street for $1,500.

Nora C. Diehl, widow, transferred to William A. Brown and Sally B. Brown, lots Nos. 306 to 310 inclusive, in Walsh's addition to South Cumberland. There was no cash consideration.

Two mortgages and two chattel mortgages were also filed for record.

Joseph W. Myers, 65, prominent nurseryman, and former resident of Cumberland, died suddenly Wednesday at his home in Tyrone, Pa., according to information received last evening by James E. Yarnall, secretary of Cumberland lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks.

Mr. Myers resided in Cumberland for many years and was a member of the local Elks lodge. While here he was representative for a nationally known nursery firm. He left Cumberland in 1929 for Tyrone where he went into business selling shrubbery and trees. Since establishing his home in Pennsylvania he has been a regular visitor to Cumberland.

Interment will be at Everett, Pa.

Correction

It now develops that Joseph Schell, Sr., of 560 Patterson avenue, did not pass Monday at the Baltimore induction station. Information furnished the News by another Cumberland man in the same contingent was that both Schell and his son, Joseph Schell, Jr., had passed the examination. The News regrets the error.

Major Arthur Hyde, wing commander and members of his staff are coming here to address the local fliers and make a formal inspection of the unit.

Squadron Commander Arthur Lyem urges all members of the patrol to be present.

Members of the local Civil Air Patrol squadron No. 331, will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Civil Service rooms of the post office building on Pershing street for inspection.

A pellet from a BB gun was removed from beneath the left eye of Jack Campbell, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Campbell, Wiley Ford, Va., yesterday at Memorial hospital. He was struck by the pellet Monday while at play with several companions.

Local High Schools Unite in Concert

War-time restrictions have taken from the extra-curricular program of the Allegany county schools the annual county music festival which had for many years been one of the most highly anticipated school events.

As a substitute for the festival, for which even the huge Fort Hill auditorium often was not large enough to accommodate all the patrons, music groups from Fort Hill and Allegany high schools will unite for a concert tonight at 8:15 p. m.

Appearing on the program will be the combined orchestras, bands, boys' and girls' glee clubs, mixed choruses and a cappella choirs. They will be under the direction of Miss Pearl Garbrick, Miss Dorothy Seebree and Miss Dorothy Willison, music instructors from the two schools.

A variety of classical and semi-classical instrumental and vocal numbers will constitute the program. Special features will be several patriotic and Latin American numbers.

Since the other county schools are not participating, tickets will be available at the box office of Fort Hill auditorium. Admission will be by complimentary ticket only.

Celanese Distributes First Installment Of Back Pay

The first installment of back pay for Celanese workers was paid yesterday and company officials said it amounted to $187,023 and was for the period between October 1 to December 27, 1942. The back pay was awarded in a contract between the company and Local 1874, TWU, and recently approved by the War Labor Board.

The back pay was paid in individual checks but from now on wage increases will be included in the current checks. Over $600,000 in back pay will be distributed within the next few weeks. Another check, from which the Victory tax will be deducted, will cover back wages from the period between December 28 and the first week in April.

Two other checks will be paid out for differentials, adjustments, transfers, promotions, reclassifications and other details. The average check paid yesterday was for slightly over $20. About 9,000 workers are receiving back wages.

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Are you a Part-time American?

IT ISN'T HARD to figure your percentage as an American. Just check what you are doing against what you could do if you gave every minute of your day, every ounce of your energy . . . and, yes, every drop of your blood . . . toward winning this war.

Many men and many women have made that supreme contribution. Many more will make it—working, fighting, and dying—for American victory and American freedom. For the fight ahead is a hard one. We are just at its beginning, not at its middle, or near its end.

Of course, not all of us are—not all of us can be—in this fight with our lives. But every one of us, every man and woman, can be in it with our dollars!

Why a Lot More Money Is Needed NOW! With every foot of ground taken . . . with every naval task carried out . . . with every bombing mission against the enemy . . . the costs of war increase. More men are needed in the fight. More ships are needed for our supply lines. More planes and tanks and guns are needed on the expanding battle fronts.

This takes money. More money and still more money.

That's why the Government of the United States is asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars in the next few weeks. Asking us to invest, this month, an extra 13 billion dollars over and above our regular War Bond buying. And make no mistake about this: Uncle Sam's got to get that extra money to keep on fighting this war!

How to Invest Your Share!

Some time soon, you may be called on by a War Loan Drive volunteer. He'll tell you all about the greatest investments in the world today—the wartime securities of the United States. How they're tailored to fit your situation and your ability to buy.

But don't wait for him. Decide now to dig down—dig down deep. Then take every penny you can and go to your nearest bank or post-office and turn the money into War Bonds.

Sure, it may hurt. But a lot of clean-cut young fellows in uniform are going to be hurt a lot worse than you are before this war is won. And don't ever forget this!

You're not giving your dollars—you're lending them. Your money's going to come back to you—and bring more money with it. Money that can mean not only no depression after this war, but plenty of peace-time jobs and peace-time goods for you and yours in a busier, more prosperous country than we've ever known.

So don't wait. For your Country's sake—for your own sake—invest all you can!

Here Are 7 Different Types of U. S. Government Obligations — Choose The Ones Best Suited to You:

United States War Savings Bonds—Series E: The perfect investment for individual and family savings. Gives you back $4 for every $3 when the Bond matures. Designed especially for the smaller investor. Dated 1st day of month in which payment is received. Interest: 2.9% a year if held to maturity. Denominations: $25, $50, $100, $500, $1000. Redemption: any time 60 days after issue date. Price: 75% of maturity value.

2½% Treasury Bonds of 1964-1969: Readily marketable, acceptable as bank collateral, these Bonds are ideal investments for trust funds, estates and individuals. A special feature provides that they may be redeemed at par and accrued interest for the purpose of satisfying Federal estate taxes. Dated April 15, 1943; due June 15, 1969. Denominations: $500, $1000, $5000, $10,000, $100,000 and $1,000,000. Redemption: Not callable till June 15, 1964; thereafter at par and accrued interest on any interest date at 4 months' notice. Price: par and accrued interest.

Other Securities: Series "C" Tax Notes; ½% Certificates of Indebtedness; 2% Treasury Bonds of 1950-1952; United States Savings Bonds Series "F"; United States Savings Bonds Series "G."

Jeffers Favors Supply Agency For Civilians Rubber Administrator Reverses Former Stand, Opposes Nelson

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers, reversing his earlier stand, has advocated the creation of an independent civilian supply agency under a "two-fisted administrator," a move opposed by WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson.

Testifying before the Senate Banking committee which is considering a bill to establish a civilian supply administration separate from the War Production Board of which the Office of Civilian Supply is now a branch, Jeffers declared:

Jeffers' Position
"If there is any weakness in the present setup for the prosecution of the war, it is the obvious weakness that the civilian supply has not been looked after."

Jeffers asserted his own experience in battling for priorities for the synthetic rubber program has convinced him a fighting administrator "may get in trouble, but he will get results."

The rubber director explained that "experience" had taught him he was wrong when he suggested to a senator a little more than two months ago that he was not in favor of a separate civilian supply agency.

Asks Independent Agency
Jeffers asserted the proposed agency should be headed "by a man like Earl Smith," president of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Only an independent agency, fighting for essential civilian needs, Jeffers said, could maintain "home front morale."

Nelson recently told the committee that the activities of a claimant agency were "those of bargaining," and that the civilians would "not wish to bargain, to claim more than they need of the nation's stock of necessary goods and services."

The legislation, however, has been endorsed by Joseph L. Weiner, director of the WPB's Office of Civilian Supply. He asserted there was need for an agency with authority to lay claim to goods and materials for the civilians of the nation to "put them on a par" with foreign civilians.

Weiner said there was no more "impropriety" in claiming for the civilians of this country than the Board of Economic Warfare making claims for the civilians of South America.

The average age of a state governor is 51 years old.

Artists To Shine In Post-War World

So Says Malvina Hoffman, Noted American Woman Sculptor

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Feature Writer

America's most famous woman sculptor thinks the war and post-war world will give artists their greatest chance.

"There is a job for artists to do in changing people's circulation, waking them up and making them think," Malvina Hoffman told me recently in her New York studio. "People call us star gazers. We have to catch those stars and bring them down and make people look. Notice what some painters have already done with posters.

"There also a job for artists in interpreting the people of one country to another—in making them understand each other. I noticed in the International Dance Exhibition in which 42 countries took part in New York in '38, that the dancers of one country would go without lunch to watch the rehearsals of another country's dances because they were so interested.

And when the exhibition was finished all the dancers left with a far better understanding of the people of the other countries which had participated. Painting, sculpture and music can do the same kind of interpretive work."

Miss Hoffman bent her smoothly coiled white head, fastened a button of her blue artist's smock and stared reflectively into the curling smoke of her cigarette.

Challenge to Women

"The problems of reconstruction and of building peace in a post war world will also give women the greatest opportunity they have ever had for participation in the world's work," she went on. "Women have—by natural instinct—a better capacity for understanding other people than men have. In a scrap they do not resort to the same tactics men do or use weapons. For centuries they have been peace makers and arbiters in the home. "But they have one terrific lack—a conception of the global point of view. Generally speaking women are well informed only about their own corner. My work has given me a chance to observe at first hand the women of Asia, Africa, Australia and Europe. I found they did not know anything about the women of the next country and were not greatly concerned.

"The airplane has brought far away countries next door in point of time. It is necessary for the people of any country to understand the others. If women do not acquire a better understanding of the people of those countries and their place in the world as a whole, they may miss the greatest chance they have ever had to do a really big job in world affairs."

Miss Hoffman's comments on art's job in a post war world are doubly significant in the light of the fact that she has lived with the arts all her life. She was born in New York in 1887, daughter of the piano virtuoso, Richard Hoffman, and studied painting before she turned to sculpture. Since her years of study with Gutzon Borglum and Auguste Rodin in Paris, she has turned out a great variety of work which is famous for its strength and the feeling it reflects and which has brought her world wide recognition. Her greatest job is a collection of 104 pieces representing the male and female types of every living race, housed in the Field Museum of Chicago. To obtain the material for it she traveled five years in Asia, Africa, Australia and Europe.

Sculpture and War

Today she lives in a midtown New York studio made from two garages. Half of it houses her working equipment, modelling stand, carpenter's tools, clay. The other half houses some of her work—Liberian figures, Belgian Congo heads, a figure of the risen Christ.

Because of the war Malvina Hoffman has turned her art to new uses this year. She modelled the parts of the human body for use in teaching a Red Cross course in anatomy. Made maps of her district, where she serves as a post air raid warden. And modelled the figure "Winnie"—the American Fashion Critics Award, presented this year for the first time in recognition of outstanding fashion design.

The Party Line Takes Care of Baby

BARLAND, Okla. (AP)—Remember the old party telephone line that beat the radio all hollow because you could always pick up the receiver and hear what your neighbors were doing?

Well, a daughter arrived recently at the Glen Cleveclands. Cleveland got the operator on the phone and said he wanted to tell the good news to relatives at Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

"I'd better give the general ring, and let the neighbors know too," volunteered the operator. She did.

Dubbed Sounds Superior In Big Blitz Sequences

As far as sound on the screen is concerned, real bombers and fighters just aren't the type. Which is why Director Michael Powell had more than a sheaf of headaches when he was filming the big air raid scene in "One of Our Aircraft Is Missing," now showing at the Maryland.

The locale of the air raid is Holland, where six R.A.F. flyers have bailed out after successfully bombing their target in Germany. Having contacted the powerful Dutch Underground, they have reached the seacoast and are preparing to get into a boat and safety under cover of an air raid.

"One of Our Aircraft Is Missing" features in its large cast Eric Portman, Hugh Williams, Godfrey Tearle and Google Withers.

Frazee and Paige Star in Film

Jane Frazee and Robert Paige are together again for the eighth picture since they have been under contract to Universal studio. Their marathon screen romance, being continued currently in the Ritz Brothers' comedy tune, "Hiya Chum," has reached the point where studio technicians call the actress "Mrs. Paige." She sings a special duet with Paige in the new production which is now at the Liberty theatre.

The couple take the ribbing good-naturedly. In fact, they say they are used to it.

Western Music Features Picture

Popular western music is featured in many sequences of Universal's newest outdoor adventure drama, "Tenting Tonight On The Old Camp Ground," now showing at the Embassy theatre.

Johnny Mack Brown and Tex Ritter are co-stars in the swift-moving film which has a musical score including such numbers as "Ridin' Home," "The Drinks Are On The House" and the famous old selection "Tenting Tonight On The Old Camp Ground."

Opening today at the Garden theatre is "The Hidden Hand," starring Craig Stevens, Elizabeth Fraser and Julie Bishop. A mystery picture, it has many horror-

Pimlico Opens Twenty Days of Racing Today

Proceeds from Five-Day Session Will Go to National War Fund

By DONALD SANDERS
BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—Maryland's rationed racing season, reduced to twenty days this spring because wartime restrictions made it impossible for more than one track to operate, will start tomorrow at the Maryland Jockey Club's Pimlico track.

Pimlico will donate the proceeds of a special five-day meeting to the national war fund as racing's first major contribution this year to the national goal of $2,000,000 for war relief causes.

Although aided by a state Office of Price Administration ruling holding that any autos may be driven to the track if only A-ration gasoline is used, the track will depend primarily upon street car service.

The Pimlico layout is within the city limits and is served by four street car lines.

To enable the City Transit Company to transport patrons away from the grounds before the usual late afternoon rush, Pimlico has advanced its first post time to 12 o'clock noon, with the last race daily scheduled to go to the post at 3:30 p. m.

There will be no stake races during the five-day war relief meeting. Features will have a definite wartime flavor, being named for battle sites of the current conflict. The feature tomorrow, for instance, is the Guadalcanal, a mile and 70-yard test for four-year-olds and up.

Pimlico's barns are virtually filled to their 1,200-horse capacity, and several hundred additional racers are quartered at nearby Laurel Park. The races on tomorrow's opening card—particularly of the claiming variety—were well filled.

One threatened hitch was smoothed out today when a third steward was chosen for the meeting. The racing commission steward and the one appointed by the association had for several days been unable to agree on the third man, but compromised today.

Pimlico's fifteen-day regular meet will start next Thursday, following the war relief racing. That meeting will be climaxed by the running of the historic Preakness stakes on May 8.

The compromise steward named today was M. C. Shea, who was selected after George Brown, Jr., commission appointee, and William L. Harmon, acting for the Maryland Jockey Club, had been unable to agree.

Brown had recommended the appointment of Wilmer C. Brinton, while Harmon favored Thomas J. Healy. The stalemate continued throughout the week, with a settlement finally being agreed upon this afternoon.

The steward situation was thus completely revised from previous years. Harmon had been appointed by the racing commission at every major meeting in the state since 1938, but was replaced this season by Brown.

Brown had already been named by Pimlico, but when he was selected by the commission, the track management chose Harmon instead.

The Veterans Take Over
As a rule, at this spot in budding April, the rookies are the ones who get most of the headlines. They rule the early notices until something of a morbid nature happens to most of them around the first of May, and nature resumes its normal course.

This season is entirely different. There are few, if any, Musials or Reisers or Tex Hughsons on review. Far greater interest is centered in the old-timers, those who have known from fifteen to twenty-two years of major-league competition, who see their chance to hang around a while longer, where most of the younger men are at war.

The battle of the veterans should be one of the high spots of the new season, getting under way next week.

Certainly the two major leagues have never known a campaign where so many old-timers play, or might play, such leading roles.

MEET JOCKEY JOHNNY LONGDEN, one of the topnotch riders in the nation and the rider who was aboard Count Fleet, the Derby favorite, in every one of his two-year-old starts last year. Longden, who has been riding since 1930, where he started as an apprentice at Agua Caliente, first hit the headlines when he rode in Canada, in 1931, leading all jockeys. He then went to Tanforan, San Bruno, Cal., and continued to bring home winners. He has been sensational since. He is an alert mountman at the gate, a master judge of pace and one of the most powerful finishers in the business.

RED SOX TO PLAY HARVARD
BOSTON, April 15 (AP)—Balked by the weather, the Boston Red Sox today put over their exhibition clash with Harvard until tomorrow. If playing conditions are suitable, Manager Joe Cronin will start two veteran hurlers, Ken Chase and Dick Newsome, against the collegians to get them primed for the weekend's intra-city series with the Braves.

BRAVES HEAD FOR HOME
BOSTON, April 15 (AP)—The Boston Braves were due home late tonight for, when Manager Casey Stengel learned that today's game with the Philadelphia Athletics at Wilmington, Del., had been cancelled, he herded his players onto an early train for Boston.

Since that was the third cancellation in four days for the Braves, Stengel is worried about the lack of suitable competition most of his pitchers had during the short spring training season. Not one of them has gone more than five innings to date.

DAHLGREN CALLED BY DRAFT
PHILADELPHIA, April 15 (AP)—The undermanned Philadelphia Phillies received another jolt today when it was disclosed that Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren, their only first baseman, will be called by a Philadelphia draft board for his physical exam within the next two weeks.

Dahlgren, who will be 31 June 15, is married but has no children. If he passes the physical test Dahlgren is expected to be inducted some time next month.

DYKES WILL USE ROOKIE
CHICAGO, April 15 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox manager, Jimmy Dykes, boasted today that his team could continue to win from the Northside Chicago Cubs in their spring city series by using only rookie mound talent.

Dykes, whose American Leaguers beat the Nationals two of three games in the "no-count" series at spring training camp in French Lick, will use only one rookie pitcher in tomorrow's opening, however. The one rookie is Gordon Maltzberger of Shreveport. He will appear for three innings with the remainder of the mound duties going to veterans Bill Dietrich and Edgar Smith.

CUBS RELEASE WASHBURN
FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 15 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs broke up their spring camp today and headed for home where they will open a four-game city spring series tomorrow with the Chicago White Sox.

The seventeen-man cub pitching staff has been trimmed to fifteen by the release of Rookie George Washburn to the Philadelphia Phils at the $7,500 waiver price and rookie Bob McCall to Nashville on option.

YORK-GIANT GAME OFF
NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—It looks like the New York Giants and the New York Yankees will have to toss a coin to see which team is "consolation champion" of the Metropolitan area.

The two clubs, both beaten by the Brooklyn Dodgers in a round robin yesterday, were scheduled to meet today, but inclement weather forced cancellation of the game and they are not booked to meet again.

Senators in Tie Game

TRENTON, N. J., April 15 (AP)—The Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Phillies battled to a 1-1 deadlock here today before a meager crowd of 300.

The Phillies scored in the fourth inning when Ron Northey tripled and came home on Danny Litwhiler's long fly. The Senators evened the count in the seventh when Sullivan tallied on a double steal in collaboration with Robertson.

Dutch Leonard, Washington's knuckleball artist, allowed only one hit—Northey's triple—in working the first five innings.

Rookie Marvels Scarce in Majors As Season Nears

Dick Wakefield of Tigers Best Known of Year's Newcomers

By JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—One result of baseball's shortened spring training season has been that little has been heard of the rookie marvels the Major League clubs used to unveil in the south.

Their number is fewer this year, but they are present none-the-less and the competition for honors as "Rookie of the Year" seems likely to be as spirited this season as ever in the past.

The best known newcomer, perhaps, is Dick Wakefield of the Detroit Tigers because two years ago he achieved considerable fame by auctioning his services around the Major Leagues till the Tigers finally signed him for approximately $50,000.

From the University of Michigan he went to Detroit's Piedmont League farm at Winston-Salem in 1941 and last year was promoted to Beaumont in the Texas League, where he proceeded to win the batting championship with a .345 average, making 192 hits, scoring 100 runs and batting in 90. It followed naturally that he also was named the league's most valuable player.

There is no question that he can hit and he may serve to take off the minds of Detroit fans that the Tigers have given Hank Greenberg, Charley Gehring and Barney McCosky to the armed forces.

There is a question, though, about how long Wakefield can field and how long he may continue among the Bengals. He is single, but thus far has been deferred because of dependencies.

Before the curtain rises the outstanding National League rookie appears to be infielder Eddie Stanky of the Chicago Cubs, who was the batting champion and most valuable player in the American Association last year at Milwaukee.

He also led in runs scored with 124 and in two-base hits with 56. The St. Louis Cardinals, who had the two best rookies of the senior circuit last year in Stan Musial and Johnny Pezley, have a big group of candidates again this season—among them pitchers George Munger and Harry Brecheen and outfielder Buster Adams.

The Boston Braves also are high on Charley (Red) Barrett, who has been knocking around for several seasons but never spent a complete campaign in the Majors.

He was the most valuable player in the International League and won twenty games for Syracuse to top the circuit.

In the American League, besides Wakefield, freshmen worth watching are pitcher Bill Seimsoth of the St. Louis Browns, who won twenty-four games for New Orleans, and outfielder Thurman Tucker of the Chicago White Sox, who batted .313 at Fort Worth.

Delaware Park Drops Racing For This Year

WILMINGTON, Del., April 15 (AP)—The board of directors of Delaware Park decided today to forego racing this year at the mile track at nearby Stanton.

A statement by the board said: Following the failure of Governor Walter Bacon to get train service for Delaware Park the board of directors decided to transfer its application for a race meeting forward to May 29, 1944, when the usual thirty days of racing will be conducted.

Delaware Park is eight miles southwest of Wilmington and can be reached only by train service and automobiles.

Armstrong To Fight

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 15 (AP)—Henry Armstrong, erstwhile holder of the flyweight, lightweight and welterweight boxing titles, said tonight he had signed an "open contract" for an outdoor fight in New York June 11 against any "suitable opponent." The contract is with matchmaker Mike Jacobs.

"I have signed an open contract to fight either Beau Jack, Bob Montgomery, Sammy Angott, or any other suitable opponent at New York in an outdoor bout on June 11," Armstrong said.

Armstrong, loser of a disputed decision to Beau Jack recently, expressed hope that Jack would be the opponent. Armstrong will fight Severo Turrello April 30 in Washington, D. C.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—After a quarter-century of borrowing the horse-players' lament—"some days you can't make a quarter"—as their own, the featherweights have received such a shot in the arm here lately that they now rank with the lightweights as the top money-makers on Bash Boulevard.

What with one thing and another—the war's inroads on heavier divisions, the development of a "new face" like Wee Willie Pep, and the recent upsets in the divisions—the 126-pounders have advanced to a spot where they're eating regularly as a group, again. The result has been that they're once more enjoying the lambasting limelight in the manner to which such trumblers as Terry McGovern, Young Corbett and Abe Attell led them to become accustomed when they were on hand together back around 1910.

It has even come to the point where Promoter Mike Jacobs, who once shuddered at the mere mention of featherweights, is actually bidding against Boston promoters for the return bout between Wee Willie, who owns half the world championship, and Sal Bartolo, who came close to whipping Willie a week ago. Mike also has been trying to land the match between Pep and Jackie Callura, who owns the other half of the crown, although Callura's demands, which Uncle Mike compared to a "cut" of the U. S. mint, have put that one on the shelf for the time being.

On top of that, several promoters have itchy palms for the time when Wee Willie has to put his New York State-recognized title on the line, probably in May. They're mentioning as challengers such recent upsets as Bartolo and Terry Teranava, the little New York firecracker who knocked off Lulu Constantino not long ago, or even the aging and ageless Chalky Wright, from whom Pep took the crown last fall and who is still a handy guy with his fists.

Pep's party with Bartolo last week lured something like $40,000 into the box office, and it was such a snappy shindig that Boston promoters figured it would hit an $80,000 jackpot the second time 'round. What's more, Wee Willie has lured $65,000 or more into Madison Square Garden three times this season, including $70,800 the night Sammy Angott beat him a month ago to end his winning run of sixty-two in a row.

Bisons Beat Soldiers

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 15 (AP)—The New Cumberland, Pa., service team was defeated today by the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 8 to 1 after a five-inning duel between pitchers Ott of the Herd and Tisko of the Soldiers.

With the count knotted, 1-all, Minner relieved Tisko for the soldiers and Buffalo shoved across six runs in the sixth to sew up the decision. The tallies came on six walks and three hits.

Coast Guard Wins

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—The Curtis Bay (Md.) Coast Guard baseball team defeated Loyola College of Baltimore today, 2 to 0.

Each team divided the pitching duties among three twirlers each, and the half dozen pitchers allowed only eleven hits in the seven-inning game.

Al Cihocki, Coast Guard third baseman, hit a home run in the second inning with no one on base. Bob Dill scored the only other run. He walked, advanced to third on Frank Paulick's single and scored when Bunko Langgood poled a single into left field.

Laabs Smacks Two Homers

ST. LOUIS, April 15 (AP)—Even though Chet Laabs hit two home runs, the St. Louis Browns barely emerged with a 6 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game today.

Laabs drove in a third run with a single and the Browns added three more in the seventh inning with the aid of doubles by Don Gutteridge, Mark Christman and George McQuinn.

The Cardinals tightened the game with a 3-run rally in the eighth inning on a walk, Deb Garmis single, Lou Klein's double and a pinch single by Frank Demaree.

Pitchers on both teams were prodigally free with walks, issuing a total of seventeen bases on balls.

35 Boys Report For Baseball At Beall High

FROSTBURG, April 15 (Special)—Thirty-five boys reported to Coach George "Gimp" Carrington last week at Beall high school for their first workout in preparation for the baseball season which will open in the near future.

After a layoff of a year Beall High expects to put another strong team on the field. Coach Carrington who has had fine success with baseball teams at State Teachers college will be handicapped as most of his material will be new. Roger Day, Ritchie Middleton and Elmer Lashly are the only hold-overs from the team two years ago.

Boys who have had some sandlot experience are infielders Bob Britt, Lou Skidmore, Nick Harris, and Francis Cosgrove; outfielders Paul Byrnes, "Lunk" Norris and Frank Workman. Roger Day and Ritchie Middleton are trying out for mound duty with Glenn Hanna doing the receiving.

Dodgers Break Up Pitchers Duel To Win

BROOKLYN, April 15 (AP)—The Dodgers scored a run, without a hit, in the ninth inning today to break up a tight pitchers' duel and down their Montreal (International League) farmhands 4 to 3 for their ninth straight exhibition victory. Alex Kampouris counted the winning marker after drawing a walk, advancing on another pass, stealing third and then beating out a throw to the plate on Hal Peck's infield roller. Altogether, the Dodgers were out in the ball game, 8 to 5.

The Royals not only lost the game, but their first-baseman as well, when Walt Chippelle fractured the tibia bone of his right leg attempting to slide into second in the fourth inning. A product of the Dodger farm system, he was an outfielder with Allentown (Pa.) in the Interstate League last year.

The Royals scored all their runs on four hits off Kirby Higbe in the fourth frame. The big blow was a two-run single by Al Gregg, who pitched the first four innings for Montreal.

Gregg was enjoying a shutout until the last of the fourth when a walk, an error, Kampouris' single and a wild pitch counted two runs. Jack Sherer, who took over the Montreal elbowing chares in the fifth, gave up the Dodgers' other tally on an error, a wild pitch and a single.

Pirates Defeat Tigers

MUNCIE, Ind., April 15 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates jumped on Lefty Hal Newhouse for five runs in the sixth inning today and easily beat Detroit 5 to 1 behind steady pitching of Johnny Lanning, Lloyd Dietz and Rip Sewell.

Newhouse, wild as a March hare, went to the mound in the fourth, after Tommy Bridges had set down the Bucs with a lone hit. Elbie Fletcher, Huck Geary, who was put at shortstop with one day's practice by Frankie Frisch, Pete Coscarart and Bill Baker all singled in the sixth. Hal passed Bob Elliott, Jim Russell, Frank Colman and Fletcher, the final two forcing in runs, before Dizzy Trout rushed to the rescue and ended the rally.

The Tigers bunched singles by Rudy York, Mike Higgins and Jimmy Bloodworth off Lanning to score their lone market in the second.

Marlin Says Reds Will Finish First In National Loop

Declares Only Chump Would Pick Flag Race but He Does It

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP) — It generally is agreed that anyone is an ump-chay who would try to predict the outcome of the Major League pennant races this year, so we'll stay right in character and express a firm opinion in no uncertain words. Or maybe it should be expressed in an uncertain opinion in no firm words.

Besides, we have a reputation to uphold and don't want to disappoint our loyalists who wait patiently for our pennant choice so they can scurry right out and put their two-bits on some other team.

This is particularly true in reference to our National League selections, which invariably are so accurate the teams refuse to abide by them just for spite. They'll show that smart aleck the doesn't know what he's talking about, by gum.

How They'll Finish

Anyway, here is the way we see the National League:

1—Cincinnati; 2—Brooklyn; 3—St. Louis; 4—New York; 5—Chicago; 6—Pittsburgh; 7—Boston; 8—Philadelphia.

Now the choice of Cincinnati to win is no accident. You might say it was habit, as we've been picking the Reds so long that sooner or later we'll hit them right unless the law of averages has been repealed.

Not that we've plugged the team and found it ripe this year. None of the teams is ripe this year, although one of them, the Dodgers, might be called over-ripe.

It's just that Cincinnati has suffered fewer real losses due to the war than any other club. Mike McCormick, facing possible induction, may be the only regular lost, and the Reds were good enough to finish fourth last year.

Sure, they have less hitting power than a bee-bee gun, but some of the other teams aren't going to be hitting much this year, and the Reds have some classy pitchers, and with the addition of Eddie Miller at short, will have a stout defense. They won't have a couple of pennants with no more.

We'll place the Dodgers ahead of the Cardinals for second place because the nine-old-men of Brooklyn figure to stay with the team, and even if some of them have slowed to a jog they still can hit that ball. The club won't be the 1942 club, which won 104 games, as it lost two fine players in Pete Reiser and Pee-Wee Reese, but it's still quite a club.

It's hard to forget the fine team the Cards had in the field last year, but their strength seems to have been pretty well sapped by the loss of such gems as Terry Moore, and Enos Slaughter, and Johnny Beasley, the probable loss of the dynamo, Jimmy Brown, and the temporary loss of Martin Marion. You just can't figure them their 1942 selves.

Giants Picked Fourth

Those three clubs—the Reds, Cards and Dodgers—should finish in 1-2-3, or 3-2-1, or 2-1-3 order, but from there on down it's just a potato race, with about all you can be sure of being that the teams will finish if the league season finishes.

The Giants have been as hard hit by losses to the service as about any club, but they finished third last year under the astute leadership of Mel Ott, and despite the absence of such gems as Johnny Mize and Harry Danning their velocity should keep them in the first division.

The Cubs get fifth place ahead of the Pirates on a semi-memorial-memorial-memorial choice, and the Braves look better than the Phils, which may be the same as saying that one bucket of water is better than another bucket of water. They're both pretty much all wet, but we still like, or dislike, the Phils to finish last as we don't think new owner Bill Cox can overcome the chronic inertia of the club in a single season. The club is rusted to the bottom now and it's going to take a lot of hacking to get it loose.

FOR THE GAME'S SAKE

By LAWRENCE PERRY

NEW YORK, April 15—One thing that no congressman can say about his fellow representative, Sammy Weiss, of Gloucester, Pa., thirty-first Pennsylvania district, is that he never laid down on Duquesne university even if the Pittsburgh seat of learning did lay down on him. Whenever there was a cup to be offered as a trophy designed to stimulate sport, or an alumni dinner requiring a fervid orator, or a tub-thumper in general for the Dukes, you never had to look farther than Sammy Weiss.

As an undergrad this dynamic little Gloucesterer, who was brought here from Poland when he was eight months old, was a never-say-die athlete plunging into the grid-iron fray wherever it was thickest and leading the basketball onslaught. He was quarterback and captain of Duquesne's eleven in 1924 and basketball captain in 1923.

Not only did he always, after graduation, stand as defender of Duquesne's fame and promulgator of its interests but when occasion called, as it did with the outbreak of the current war, he sprang into the lists as defender not only of intercollegiate sport but of all spectator sport.

We have not heard that the president of the United States has replied to a letter addressed to him by Rep. Weiss asking for a show-down conference as to the advisability of continuing all spectator sports which he, himself, advised with ardor. Anyway, he wrote one.

While awaiting a reply he proposes to introduce a resolution to the House directing the ODT to permit reasonable travel for participants and spectators to sports events, except, of course, in such cases as would clearly interfere with the war effort. This idea followed a suggestion that Congress, with the morale of civilian war-workers and taxpayers generally in mind, go on record as sanctioning spectator sports.

Yet in the midst of all this, while in the sincerity of his faith in the value of competitive sports both for player and onlooker, he bears aloft the standard in ardor, eloquence and militance, what happens? Why, Duquesne, the university for which he fought and bled, calmly and coolly throws football and other varsity sports off the campus for the duration. Can you beat that?

Passing Record

Jackie Fellows, Fresno State half-back, holds the new collegiate passing record. Two completed touchdown passes against Loyola ran his 1942 total to twenty-one, two more than the record held jointly by Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian, and Paul Gornall, Columbia.

FOOD SHORTAGE? NOT SMALL FARMER'S FAULT!

CINCINNATUS, 1943 MODEL—Unlike ancient Rome's heroic soldier-farmer, however, this small farm operator helps defeat the enemy by remaining on his land, raising more food than ever.

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
Central Press Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Uncle Sam this summer will harvest a dividend undreamed of in his more peaceful and opulent days preceding Pearl Harbor.

Then, when the farm question revolves around the well-being of the small farmer who altogether too often was unable to make ends meet, the Federal Security administration was set up to provide him with ready cash at a small interest rate.

Today, when the farm question revolves around the well-being of all of Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews and the amount of crops the farmer can produce over and above last year's harvest, the half million recipients of FSA loans have pledged themselves to produce more and more and MORE!

These pledges have been made voluntarily. No quotas have been set for these "small farmers," whose lands run up to 40 and sixty acres. J. H. Wood, regional FSA director of the Maine-through-Maryland district, admitted that even to him the response of the small farmers to 1943 food production problems was a "revelation."

To Beat '42 Output

"These farmers, who contributed a lion's share of the record 1942 food production increases, tell us that they will do it again this year—only in much greater volume," Woods declared. "And I would say these folks, by their own fine performance, are qualified as experts."

"The small farmers are determined to give their country plenty of food for our national needs and all the soldiers we can send overseas—and enough more to feed all freed peoples."

These farmers do not share the production pessimism of profiteers, defalcators and pressure groups!

In making a survey of crop possibilities for 1943, the FSA sent letters to 22,000 individual farmers and then waited, with fingers crossed, for the response.

"With scarcely an exception, these thousands of farmers wrote that they would give their government all-out production this year," Wood said. "I was particularly impressed by their utter disregard for profit in planning capacity production and their determination to give all they've got regardless of prices."

Confidence
"These folks had complete confidence in their own abilities and other factors upon which production depends," Wood continued.

"I was pleasantly surprised by their expressions of gratitude to their government for the help given them. And I believe that anyone in government service would feel humble after reading these letters from people who do so much and ask so little."

FSA farmers throughout the nation last year, although comprising only 7.6 per cent of all farmers, increased their milk production by 1,419,000,000 pounds—36 per cent of the total increase for the country. They contributed great increases in other war-needed foods as well. But in this critical year of 1943, the small farmers are still determined to increase production. These are a few of the figures available for the northeastern district alone and represent anticipated percentages over 1941 production:

Milk, up 36.8 per cent.
Eggs, up 108.6 per cent.
Beef, up 67.7 per cent.
Poultry, up 66.7 per cent.
Pork, up 104 per cent.
And believe your Uncle Sam, if these percentages are actually attained it will mean something very great indeed to the United States, the United Nations and the men in the armed services everywhere.

Capacity Production

"Larger operators have been producing to capacity for some time. Their principal problem seems to be to hold their own," Wood pointed out.

And the small farmer apparently is not particularly worried about manpower.

The letters indicate that labor is the least of the small farmer's worries," according to the regional director.

"The small farmer's family is usually large and very helpful in his operations. That is the main reason why he has been able to expand; and that is the reason why he can expand a good deal more right now."

"The small farmer needs machinery of opinion expressed in this file, he cry, but according to the consensus will share it with his neighbors. In this way they can get full use of equipment."

The zeal with which the small operators have gone into "war production" is graphically shown in a chart prepared by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

It shows the percentage increase in production in 1942 over 1941 of the small farmers, compared with the 6,097,000 other farm families in the United States.

The Chart	FSA	All Farmers
Community	20	3
Milk	38	11
Beef	88	70
Peanuts	36	13
Pork	31	15
Eggs	106	98
Soybeans	36	14
Chickens	34	6
Dry beans	24	16
Sugar beets	16

Naturally, these small farmers who borrowed from FSA in the long, lean years are now repaying the government.

"In Dec. 1, 1942, repayments on our rehabilitation loans were 92 per cent of maturities, plus 8 per cent interest, plus millions of dollars in advance repayments," Wood said.

"This is proving to be a rare opportunity for our family-size farmers to get out of the red, serve their government and lay aside something for post-war security."

Illinois Cager Is Among Five Youths Arrested for Theft

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., April 15 (AP)—Five youths, including a member of the University of Illinois championship Big Ten basketball squad, were charged with burglary and larceny today after police said they admitted burglarizing twenty or more university fraternity houses on the Illinois and Purdue campuses.

"Their stories indicate the boys did these things to get good clothes and money for easy living," Sergeant Russell Burke of the Champaign police related. "There was no organized gambling involved, but they admitted they frequently played hearts (a card game) for $3 a hand and bet heavily on pool games and athletic events."

Burke said the five who admitted and are charged with burglary and larceny are:

Charles Fowler, 20, University of Illinois junior from Watseka, Ill., a reserve on the Illinois basketball squad.

Claude Berschinski, 18, Illinois freshman from Riverdale, Ill., a former championship tennis player in Chicago.

Eugene Redman, 16, Watseka high school student and athlete who set a basketball scoring record last season in the Waukegan Conference.

Robert Redman, 18, brother of Eugene, and a Watseka high school senior.

Jack Vandover, 18, Watseka high school athlete who dropped out of school several days ago to await a call from the Marines.

OPA Attorney Advises Meat Wholesalers of Revision in Prices

Matthew J. Mullane, attorney for the Cumberland field office of the OPA, yesterday called the attention of meat wholesalers to the revision of maximum price regulations which became effective yesterday.

Prices for beef and veal carcasses and beef and veal wholesale cuts have been revised downward by Amendment No. 6 to Maximum Price Regulation 169, according to Mullane.

For example, a choice full loin formerly sold for $34.75 and is now $32.50; the price of a short loin has been dropped from $41.50 to $37.75 and sirloin has been reduced from $29.25 to $28.25.

Maximum prices have also been fixed by the amendment for ground beef, which includes hamburger, hamburger steak and ground beef patties.

Wholesalers who have not already received a list of revised prices are requested to contact the OPA office, fifth floor, Liberty Trust building.

Catholic Churches Will Distribute Palm On Sunday Morning

Palm will be blessed and distributed to parishioners in all Catholic churches April 18 on the occasion of Palm Sunday.

At St. Patrick's church, North Centre street, palm will be blessed before and distributed after the 11 o'clock Mass while at St. Peter and Paul church the distribution will be before the 10:30 a. m. Mass.

Palm will be distributed at St. Mary's church, Oldtown road, after the 10:30 Mass while at St. Anthony's church, Ridgeley, the blessing and distribution is scheduled before the 8 o'clock Mass.

Holy Week services will be held in all Catholic churches next week preceding Easter Sunday, April 25.

Snow and Cold Keep Anglers Away from Streams Opening Day

Cold weather marred the opening day of the trout season yesterday in Garrett, Washington and Allegany counties and only a small group of anglers braved the wintry blasts and snow flurries to fish at their favorite streams for the speckled beauties.

Three fishermen were reported by wardens to have caught the creel limit of ten at Evert's creek but anglers were not so successful at other streams.

A three-inch snowfall kept fishermen away from the streams in Garrett county and cold weather also killed off attendance at Beaver and Tonoloway creeks in Washington county, according to Battle Mixon, deputy game warden.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, who was engaged in stocking quail, started out for Garrett county to make a survey of the fishing situation, but his car froze on the mountain and he was forced to turn back.

Father Seeks Divorce And Custody of Child

Harold B. Tice filed a bill of complaint in circuit court yesterday, through his attorney Noel Spier Cook, seeking a divorce from his wife Lorraine A. Tice. The couple married at Kitzmiller, October 24, 1939 and have one child. The father seeks custody of the infant.

The AP reports America's wars—3

"So you want your head blown off?"

AN AP man, W. A. M. Goode, climbed aboard Admiral Sampson's flagship, The New York, off Key West on April 20, 1898 and was greeted gruffly by the Admiral:

"So you want to come aboard and get your head blown off! It's foolish!"

It was the first time a reporter ever had been allowed aboard a warship in action and it had taken presidential approval, over the navy's protests, to arrange it.

Such daring and resourcefulness set new journalistic records during the Spanish-American war—and before. As early as 1896, in fact, the AP assigned F. J. Hilgert to Havana where the natives were seemingly waging a hopeless fight for independence from Spain. For two years Hilgert worked in secrecy, and in danger, smuggling out his graphic reports since General Weyler had forbade all newspaper work under threat of the firing squad.

With Hilgert's dramatic flash, "The Maine has been blown up," AP was ready. It assembled a trained war staff and assigned a flotilla of dispatch boats that made newspaper history. Correspondents aboard the dispatch boats with the blockading fleet off Santiago were under fire and frequently mistaken for the enemy.

Today AP men are making newspaper history again in the same tradition—AP men with the Mediterranean fleet, AP men in the Atlantic, in the Pacific, AP men wherever there's duty—and danger.

Waring Milestone Will Be Marked In Radio Series

Songs Selected by Those in Services Will Be Played

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, April 15 (P)—Fred Waring reaches a milestone in his present NBC series at 7 p. m. Friday. It's the one thousandth broadcast. The songs to be played are those selected by the twenty-six former members of his organization now in the armed forces.

Joe Rines and Glenn Riggs, one of the orchestra leader and the other the M. C. who have been putting forth the Nothing Serious variety show on the Blue Saturday nights, will find themselves at a new broadcast time hereafter, 7:05 p. m. Fridays. What they do about, they still insist, will be nothing serious.

An all-Tchaikovsky concert will be directed by Eugene Ormandy when his Philadelphia orchestra displays another MBS broadcast at 2:30. There will be three compositions, written from 1876 to 1880, including Symphony No. 4 in F minor, Opus 6.

With point rationing presenting problems in the economical preparation of meals with tasty variety the growing of pickles and relishes in the Victory garden seems at least part of the answer. This also means the planting and cultivation of the succulent cucumber.

In order to have extra early cucumbers the seeds should be started indoors about the middle of April. Since cucumbers do not transplant easily it is good practice to start them in paper cups as grown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. When the seedlings are ready to be planted out of doors cut off the bottom of the paper cup but leave the paper sides intact around the ball of earth and plant cup and seedlings as one. Do not plant outdoors, however, until all danger of frost is past.

For early small varieties of cucumbers have the hills four feet apart each way. For the large late cucumbers plant the hills farther apart, four by six feet is usually ample spacing.

The late cucumber seeds can be planted in circular hills about one foot in diameter. Cucumbers are heavy feeders and placing one or two shovelfuls of manure in the bottom of each hill gives the plants wonderful stimulation. Place four inches of soil over the manure and plant the seeds one-half inch deep, 10 or 12 to each hill. After the young plants are making good growth, thin them out and leave only four of the sturdiest to each hill, as illustrated.

WHEN THERE is a suit in which your side possesses a total of eight cards, you can nearly always take ten tricks with it as trump more safely than you can take nine at No Trumps. That is not necessarily so if the dummy has a 4-3-3-3 distribution, with no short place to use its trumps. But when any other distribution prevails, you will usually find that an eight-card major suit offers a better game try than No Trumps, even when all suits are stopped.

South blamed North, after this deal, for the side never reaching a heart game, which was unstopable, as there was no need to lose anything in that contract except two tricks in clubs and one in trumps, as two diamonds could be ruffed. It was his contention that North should have raised hearts on his second turn instead of calling 3-Clubs. The fact that this raise was not given on the first round could not have misled South into thinking he had four-card support in case South had only a four-card suit.

South is really the one who fumbled, however. Not so much by bidding No Trumps on his second turn, but by not then rebidding at 3-Hearts when North's 3-Clubs came to him. That would have let North know he had a five-carder, and the latter would then have gone to 4-Hearts in rubber bridge, which it was.

The No Trump game was beaten quickly. The diamond 10, covered by the K, brought a hold-up from South, who took the third diamond. When he later lost to the club A, he was slaughtered by the rest of the diamonds.

The BLIND MAN'S SECRET

by RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

AFTER THE driver picked up the case she had kicked off for a while which resisters might follow, Agatha lost hope. The huge redwood trees seemed to close in behind the car like sentinels of a tremendous, gloomy prison. The old automobile twisted and bumped through thickets of low hanging branches, across half-ruined bridges, past loggers' cabins fallen in decay.

"You might drive slower!" Clementine suggested. "Do you expect us to stay in this seat—with hands tied and no way of hanging on?"

The driver did not turn his head, but Agatha saw he was watching them in the mirror. "You won't fall out," he growled.

"I'm not too sure of that," Agatha informed him testily. What she really was worried about was that ridiculous hat on Clementine's head. It bobbed precariously, yet because of the extra weight given it by the radio tube concealed in the crown.

Twice the man stopped the car, climbed out, walked back and, with pieces of brush, erased tracks left by the tires in sandy places. Most of the road was packed hard and covered with redwood needles that left no record of travel.

Another peril to Clementine's hat was the low-hanging branches under which it was necessary to duck because the car had no top.

At one such Agatha exclaimed, "Be careful!"

Clementine gave her a warning look and whispered, "Hush! I'm doing the best I can!"

Ever since they had left the main road Agatha had been trying to think of some way Clementine might shake the hat overboard at some place where it could be found again. Trouble was, always when she glanced in the mirror on the windshield she saw the man's eyes watching them.

The road bordered a creek which under any other circumstances would have inspired "this and that" over its beauty. The water looked and churned in white trails among the rocks, and in deep pools reflected the overhanging ferns that gave shelter to wary trout. The great trees stood with their feet among the dewy azaleas and reached for the sky, feeling the first warm sunlight in their top branches and breathing out a perfume that called for romance.

"Dead Man's Gulch!" announced the driver. Clementine shuddered. What a horrible name!

The car stopped with a squeak of brakes in front of a dilapidated building. "Here's as far as we go," said the driver, switching off the motor.

"Good grief!" exclaimed Clementine. "You're not going to take us in there? Why, the place must be full of rats!"

"Scared of rats?"

"They aren't as bad as some humans," declared Agatha. "Call your gang."

He looked surprised. "What gang?"

"Don't tell us you're alone?"

The man grinned. "Think I can handle a couple of women?"

He sat sideways in the seat, rustled some papers and produced a sandwich he began to eat. "Gotta finish my lunch."

"Are you going to leave us tied?" asked Agatha without hope. "Are you going to starve us?"

The fellow shifted a bite into his other cheek. "You don't think I'm going to untie your hands, do you?"

Clementine widened her eyes toward the elder woman. "Do you suppose it is true that he's all alone?"

Their captor leaned over and adjusted something on the dashboard with his left hand. "Just me and the rabbits," he mumbled.

As if to illustrate his words, a fluffy-tailed rabbit scampered across the clearing.

"You're not alone!" Clementine accused him. "I hear someone talking."

Agatha recognized the voice. "That's the radio he's just turned on. More police news. Imagine—a radio in this rattletrap!"

"Oh, we had it put in special," their captor said. "And this ain't the rattletrap it looks to be. He leaned back and relaxed, one elbow on the steering wheel, and lifted his feet onto the door opposite."

"Buddy, these police broadcasts," he said, "are a real nuisance. I'm going to do you in the forenoon hole!"

Agatha wanted to know.

"The police, believe it or not, are going to tell me what to do with you next."

"You mean . . . ?"

"If my friends find what they're looking for in your room, I'm to bump you off. If they don't—I hold you here till they come and make you talk. The police will give me the signal."

"Lying," said Clementine. "What he probably means is that he'll find out on the radio whether or not the police are hot on his trail. They already have tipped him off once."

"It seems so senseless to put information like that on the air," observed Agatha. But to herself she was wondering if perhaps he was telling the truth. The man who wanted the radio tube would stop at nothing to get it.

"You're all wet, lady. You're all wet," declared the ruffian. "I'm listenin' for a signal. And I ain't worried about the police. We're safe here. Nobody's got to find us, not even if they fly over us in an airplane!"

Agatha had to admit to herself that he was right. The trees formed a perfect canopy—and how could anyone trace them to this road?

She wished he wouldn't mouth his food. Also, she didn't like the way he kept staring at Clementine.

"Sa-ay, that's an awful funny hat."

"Funniest hat I've ever seen," the kidnaper said.

"Lady, it's a riot!"

He stopped eating. Apparently there were no more sandwiches. His eyes narrowed and he leaned slightly over the back of the seat for a closer look. "What's that bulge in front?"

"It's nothing. All these hats are made that way."

"You've got something hid in there!" He made a quick grab. Before the girl could draw back he had the hat gripped in his fingers.

"Ouch!" she cried.

He pulled, and the hat left her head, muzzling her hair. "I didn't know girls still wore hatspins," he said. "Let's see. I ain't so good at this." He turned the hat upside down and looked into it. "Gee, the linin's ripped!"

"Yes, I—I tore it putting it on," Clementine lied.

"Sharp corners on your head." His big, clumsy fingers fumbled in the lining. He pulled out the glinting radio tube and stared at it in his hand. His mouth dropped open.

Stock Market Extends Recovery In Spite of Profit Realizing

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—The stock market extended its recovery pulse by a comfortable margin today although profit realizing on the price clipped many initial gains ranging from 1 to 2 or more points.

Rails and utilities easily were leaders at the start, with 1,000 to 2,000-share blocks appearing in these groups. Bidding eventually switched to industrial specialties. Including liquors, amusements and chemicals. Dealings slowed after mid-day but, while scattered losers were in sight at the close, modest advances were well in the majority.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished with a net gain of 4 of a point at 48.4. It was a broader market than that of yesterday, 24 individual issues being traded. Of these 598 were up, 149 down and 177 unchanged. Traders totaled 1,391,520 shares against 1,085,370 the day before.

In the stock department new tops for the year or longer were reached by International Telephone, Norfolk & Western and Schenley.

Shares prominent on the upside were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Lackawanna, American Telephone, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil of Cal., Loew's, Paramount, Distillers Corp., J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville and American Can.

Ahead in the curb were Brazilian Traction, Aluminum of America, American Gas and Glen Alden Coal. The aggregate here was 317,650 shares versus 229,025 Wednesday.

Recovery forces retained control of the bond market, extending the rally of the preceding session by fractions to around 2 points for the main body of rails and an assortment of other issues.

All four domestic groups in the Associated Press averages closed up with utilities and industrials at new highs for the past year or longer. Sales of $13,522,000 compared with $12,944,800 on Wednesday.

U. S. governments held a steady undertone but there was little attention in listed issues with main attention on the current second war loan drive.

Order of Publication

Edna Hutchinson, vs. Albert H. Hutchinson, Jr.

No. 17103 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegheny County.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce a Vinculo Matrimonii, the plaintiff from the defendant. The bill alleges that the parties were married August 3rd, 1929, and that the defendant, Albert H. Hutchinson, Jr., was born October 19th, 1929, and resides with the plaintiff. The bill further states that the defendant deserted and abandoned the plaintiff on or about February 28th, 1940, and that such desertion and abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months and is deliberate and final and without any hope of reconciliation. The plaintiff asks for the custody of Emma J. Hutchinson, the minor child of Emma J. Hutchinson, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

IT IS THEREFORE, this 14th day of April, 1943, by the Circuit Court for Allegheny County in equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this notice to be published in some newspaper published in Allegheny County, Maryland, once a week for three successive weeks before the 17th day of May, 1943, giving notice to the defendant of the filing of the bill and purpose of this suit and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person by the 10th day of May, 1943, to show cause why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Noted Orthopedic Surgeon Will Open Clinic Here Today

Dr. George E. Bennett Will See 260 Youngsters in Two Days

One of the outstanding orthopedic surgeons in the United States will come to Cumberland today to conduct a two-day clinic for approximately 260 youngsters at the headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, city hall plaza.

CLINICIAN—Dr. George E. Bennett, one of the country's foremost orthopedic surgeons, will pay his semi-annual visit to Cumberland today to open a two-day clinic at the headquarters of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children. The associate professor of orthopedics at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, will be assisted by Dr. David Weinberg, also of Johns Hopkins. Dr. Bennett has examined about 2,000 youngsters in this county since 1926 and has operated on approximately 425 of them. He is a native of New York state.

Allegany County Court House Is A Busy Place

Taxpayers, Anglers, Jurors, Witnesses and Lawyers Help Fill Building

Allegany county court house employees said yesterday that this has been one of the busiest weeks in the building for many months.

In addition to the usual routine that goes on in the various departments and branches which make up the county government, the office of Robert Jackson, clerk of court has been kept busy issuing fishing licenses to would-be anglers.

Business here, however has not been as brisk as in former years, due partially to the inclement weather conditions and to gasoline shortage which restricts driving.

On the second floor, the April term of court has been in session since Monday and the usual number of witnesses have been coming daily before the grand jury. Lawyers with cases before the court, members of the petit and grand juries, witnesses and principals in case have helped swell the crowds.

But the biggest attraction has been the temporary office of deputy collectors from the state comptroller's office, here to assist in the completion of forms for payment of state income tax. Hundreds of persons stood in line all week, waiting for help with their tax forms. The collectors have worked until 7 or 8 o'clock each evening.

Yesterday was the final day to file state income tax returns and the collectors remained in their office until 6:30 p. m., before the last person was served. The crowd yesterday was not as large as those of the three previous days, but there was a line of thirty or more people all day long. Frank C. Ort and Edward Welsh deputy collectors estimated that the number of tax payers this year far exceeded previous years.

Westernport Man Will Become Great Sachem of Red Men

Great Council Will Meet April 27-28; Tonkaway Tribe To Initiate

Albert Holler, of Blackhawk Tribe No. 131, of Westernport, will become the Great Sachem of Maryland for the Improved Order of Red Men, at the Great Council meeting to be held in the Lord Baltimore hotel, Baltimore, April 27 and 28, it was announced yesterday.

Holler, keeper of records for Blackhawk Tribe, is now completing his term as great senior sagamore of Maryland and will be elevated to the highest office of the order at the Great Council session. Other state officers will be elected.

Stanley Burke, past sachem, will represent Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, of Cumberland, at the one hundred and eighth annual meeting.

Thomas H. Taylor, of Tioga Tribe No. 136, of Midland, was elected great sachem of Maryland in 1937. Plans for the Great Council meeting will be discussed at a meeting of Tonkaway tribe, Sunday, April 18 at 2:30 p. m., at the "wigwam," 25 Bedford street.

A class of approximately twenty-five "palefaces" will be adopted at the meeting which will be followed by a social hour. Initiatory work will be under the supervision of E. H. Heas.

Howard E. Chaney's Condition Critical

Howard E. Chaney, proprietor of Chaney's Cigar Store, 64 North Centre street, last evening was reported to be in a critical condition at his home, 17 Fourth street.

Mr. Chaney, who operated a bowling and billiard parlor on Virginia avenue prior to opening the cigar store and news stand on North Centre street ten years ago, has been bedridden for the past ten days.

NEA Representative Will Address County Teachers Meeting

Dr. Harold Blanchard To Explain Federal Aid Education Bill

Dr. Harold H. Blanchard, executive chairman of the department of classroom teachers of the National Education Association, will address the Allegany County Teachers Association at its meeting tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in Allegany high school auditorium.

Dr. Blanchard will discuss the provisions of the Thomas-Hill federal aid education bill which is now before the United States Senate. The measure would provide $200,000,000 for distribution to the various states, but complete control of the school system would remain a prerogative of the states.

According to Harold C. Wickard, president of the association, several other matters will be discussed and voted upon at tomorrow's meeting.

To Act on State Recommendation Action will be taken on a recommendation of the State Teachers Association that the annual October meeting be discontinued for the duration. To take its place, the recommendation provides for the holding of a representative assembly which the eight delegates elected by the association would attend.

Reports on the consideration of the recommendation may be submitted by the twenty-three county associations to the state organization which will make the final decision.

Orble B. Boughton will give a report on the salary adjustment campaign and a decision will be made on assessing association members in order to defray part of the campaign expenses.

Will Present Resolutions Miss Nellie S. Willison, chairman of the committee on resolutions, will present for adoption resolutions of appreciation to those who assisted in obtaining passage of legislation relative to a salary increase.

Those named in the resolutions are: William A. Gunter, who contributed his services as legal adviser; the seven members of the Allegany county delegation in the Maryland General Assembly; Dr. Harold H. Blanchard, representative of the National Education Association which contributed much aid to the legislative committee; Charles L. Kopp, for his interest and services as county superintendent; Harold C. Wickard, Miss Althea Fuller, Miss Sarah Higgins, Miss Nellie Dowling, and Miss Claire Livesay, members of the executive committee; Orble B. Boughton, Robert C. Norris and Lewyn C. Davis, members of the legislative committee.

A resolution will also be submitted expressing appreciation to the general public, the thousands of patrons who sent telegrams, signed petitions and in other ways registered their approval of legislation favoring a salary adjustment for teachers.

Other members of the committee on resolutions are Miss Helen Scott and Miss Dora E. Richard.

Christopher Nutt Dies in Hospital

Christopher H. Nutt, 55, 703 Fayette street, chief cellerman at the Queen City Brewing Company, died in Allegany hospital at 11:10 o'clock last night, about an hour after he was admitted. He became ill with pneumonia Tuesday.

A son of the late Christopher and Bernadine Goetz Nutt, he was born in Cumberland. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Emma B. Nutt, three sisters, Mrs. Matilda Hamilton, Mrs. Annie Gerdean and Mrs. Peter Keefer, and one brother, William, all of Cumberland.

Mr. Nutt was employed by the brewing company for thirty-seven years, returning to work there after the prohibition amendment was repealed. He was a member of St. Peter and Paul church, the Holy Name Society and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Former Frostburg Pastor Will Become Chaplain in Army

The Rev. Harry Yagki, former pastor of the Protestant Lutheran church, has resigned the pastorate of St. Martin's Evangelical Lutheran church, Annapolis, to accept a commission as first lieutenant in the chaplain's corps of the United States Army.

The Rev. Mr. Yagki plans to leave Annapolis early next month to take a course of instruction in the chaplain's school at Harvard university. When he has completed this course he will be assigned to duty with an army unit. He also has resigned as president of the Civilian Club of Annapolis.

Mrs. Inez Yagki, wife of the pastor, is a daughter of Christopher Krause, of Frostburg, and was an assistant to G. Kear Hosken when the latter was tax collector.

Two Births Reported

Dr. and Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg, announced the birth of a son last night in Memorial hospital. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cedric B. Miller, Bedford road, last night in Memorial hospital.

Division Leaders Named for Annual Chest Campaign

Chairman Reports Hearty Response to Appeal for Volunteers

Section and division leaders for Cumberland's annual Community Chest campaign have been named and rapid progress is shown in the organization of over 200 volunteer solicitors to raise the chest quota of $58,755, according to Roy C. Lottig, general campaign chairman.

Despite the shortage of manpower, and the fact that most people are busy in their varied tasks of helping win the war, the response for help with the campaign this year has been very encouraging, Lottig said. "It just goes to prove the old adage, if you want to get something done, find a busy man to do it," Lottig commented.

Women Leaders Named

The Women's Section which has the task of conducting a house to house solicitation, is commanded this year by Mrs. Gerard Everstine. The section includes five divisions with a total of twenty-five teams. The division leaders are: Mrs. Stanley Burke, 10 Fifth street; Mrs. James Orr, 544 Fairview avenue; Mrs. Arthur G. Fuller, 619 Sedgwick street; Mrs. Roy C. Lottig, LaVale and Mrs. John F. Cook, Bowling Green.

Division leaders and team captains of the Women's Section will meet at 2 p. m. in the lecture hall of the First Presbyterian Church, Thursday, April 22 to discuss organization and report on progress of obtaining solicitors.

In the Classified Section, which has the task of contacting all employers and businesses in the city, there will be thirteen divisions.

Will Name Captains

The general chairman of the Classified Section is Everett R. Johnson and associate chairmen Robert L. Schlemmer, Joseph Trenton and Lloyd Rawlings.

Division leaders appointed to date include: John J. Robinson, Financial; P. E. Myers and N. S. Guggenheimer, Mercantile; Raymond C. Lalor, General; James W. Bishop, Served Commodities; Charles L. Kopp, Educational; Brig. B. L. Phillips, Professional; W. J. Edwards, Governmental; C. Robert Barnes, Public Service; G. L. Johnston, Utilities and Roy Eves, Railroads.

Each division leader will name team captains and firm captains who will appoint the number of solicitors needed to properly follow through on each prospect card.

Cresaptown Units Civilian Defense Meet Tonight

All units of the Cresaptown sector of Civilian Defense will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Cresaptown Volunteer Firemen's hall, according to an announcement made by H. A. Lasher, co-ordinator.

Dr. Robert W. Work, county director and State Police Sergeant Harold C. Carl, liaison officer of Civilian Defense will be the speakers.

The Cresaptown sector which embraces Rawlings and Bowling Green has four Civilian Defense units organized. They include air raid wardens, messengers, auxiliary firemen and auxiliary police.

Lasher said last night that ranks of the four organizations are continually being depleted with men entering the armed services, going on swing shift or night shift work and otherwise resigning their posts. Men and women interested in Civilian Defense service are invited to attend the meeting tonight and volunteer in one of the Cresaptown sector units.

LOCAL MAN WILL ORGANIZE PURPLE HEART ORDER HERE

George M. Leib, 722 Fayette street, recently appointed volunteer organizer for The Military Order of the Purple Heart, is organizing a new chapter of the order in Cumberland, Andrew N. Segal, state department commander of the order, announced in Baltimore yesterday.

Sixteen war veterans residing in Cumberland and vicinity have been awarded the Purple Heart decoration, Segal said, and should contact Leib so that the new chapter can be formed immediately. They are:

Ralph R. Baird, 701 Gephart drive; William W. Wilson, 543 North Mechanic street; Ernest E. Carr, 30 North Liberty street; Francis E. Brode, 719 North Mechanic street; Robert F. Boden, 128 Arch street; Earl McMillan, Y.M.C.A., Cumberland; Edward F. Creggan, Davis W. Va.; Edward F. Smith, 103 South Centre street; Howard E. Couter, 1004 Kentucky avenue.

Gerald Brode, 307 Franklin street; James F. Walton, Box 329, Cumberland; Charles A. Croston, Cash Valley road; Israel Duckworth, Cumberland; Charles W. Harper, Box 652, Cumberland; William C. Brandt, 20 Baltimore street; Humphrey E. Johnston, 523 North Mechanic street.

Unified Flood Control Project Is Advocated

Concern over the necessity of providing for a planning commission or an engineering expert to formulate a unified flood control project was expressed in emphatic terms last night by directors of the chamber of commerce.

By unanimous vote, the directors passed a resolution reaffirming its previous endorsement of the recommendations of the Citizens' Flood Control committee with the added suggestion to the mayor and city council that some provision for a commission, or an engineering expert, be made by them at once.

It was brought out in the discussion that a definite plan should be rounded out in ample time for inclusion in the post-war program.

Urge Veto of Bill

Note was taken of the recent series of editorials in the Cumberland News on the pressure conduit method of dealing with floods and it was announced that the radio program of the chamber scheduled for Tuesday evening would be devoted to this subject.

The directors also joined heartily in a movement launched by the Columbus, O., Chamber of Commerce advocating a reduction of federal employees by a million men so they can be made available for the armed services. A resolution to support the movement was unanimously adopted with an amendment that copies of the resolution be forwarded to Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, and Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia.

Upon the recommendation of Mayor Thomas F. Conlon, the board adopted without dissent a resolution to send a telegram to Governor O'Connor asking him to veto Senate bill 457 providing for an increase by the city in the sum contributed to the city firemen's pension fund. It was explained by the mayor, who is a member of the board, that the addition to the fund is not necessary at this time as the fund is in good shape.

New Members Received

A report on the industrial salvage campaign showed that the quantity of such scrap collected in Allegany county during March totaled 2491, 597 pounds.

Applications for three new memberships were approved, these being from the Homeshop Supply Company, Frank Bennett and the Ward N. Hauger Jewelry Company.

The secretary reported that several inquiries had been received from industrial concerns seeking factory space or factory buildings here and that the inquiries were being followed up with the necessary data.

Tin Can Drive Will Open Today In Cumberland

Everything is in readiness for the two-day tin can collection for Cumberland and vicinity which is scheduled to get under way at 9 o'clock this morning.

The collection, the third of the year for this community, will be in charge of Emmett A. Dougherty, city garbage contractor.

Trucks will pick up only properly prepared tin cans placed in suitable containers on the curbs in front of homes north of Greene street, Baltimore street and Baltimore avenue and in The Dingle, LaVale and Bowling Green sections today. Commencing at 9 a. m., tomorrow, the trucks will visit the section south of Baltimore street, Baltimore avenue and the entire southern section of the city.

Two Drives Net 30 Tons

A total of approximately thirty tons of tin cans were collected in the drives conducted here in February and March and W. Salvage Smith, chairman of the 15-ton average will be retained during the third collection.

Smith said that tops and bottoms of cans must be tucked in so as to permit the free flow of detinning fluid over all surfaces of the can. The fluid is forced through the flattened cans in vats so as to remove the tin which averages about one per cent a can. After this procedure is completed the cans are sent to the steel mills.

Flattened cans occupy less space in collection, shipping and detinning operations, thereby decreasing handling costs and increasing plant capacity for detinning. Paint, oil, varnish, floor polish or cone-shaped cans are not wanted for salvage. Neither are evaporated or condensed milk cans.

Smith said that approximately half a ton of cans gathered at the Cresaptown school cafeteria will be collected during the drive.

Sent to Pittsburgh

The cans collected here are sent to the Vulcan Detinning Company, Neville Island, Pittsburgh, Pa. This firm pays $15.50 a ton for the cans. Freight charges must be paid on this end.

Two scrap metal drives were sponsored by the salvage committee in recent months, resulting in the collection of approximately 700 tons. The proceeds, $6,000, was equally divided between the Red Cross and the U. S. O., Smith said.

Central Y Sponsors Endurance "Swim To Washington"

Contest Will Be Held in Pool Here; Ball Game Tickets Are Prize

A four week "Swim to Washington" all within the confines of Central Y. M. C. A. swimming pool, with two tickets to games of the Washington Senators baseball team as the prize for the winner, will begin Monday, Clifton Van Roby, physical director of Central Y, announced last night.

Roby said the length of the pool will equal one mile and that each contestant will be required to swim thirty lengths each week for four weeks, a distance equivalent of 120 miles.

The first week contestants will swim from Cumberland to Hancock, the second week from Hancock to Hagerstown, the third week from Hagerstown to Frederick and the fourth week from Frederick to Washington.

Winner of the "Swim to Washington" will be determined in a fifth week of water splitting with the contestant swimming the most lengths of the pool stroking himself into Griffith stadium in the nation's capital and the prize of two ball game tickets.

The contest, open to both men and women, can be entered by any one sixteen years of age and over. There is no entry fee. One rule of the water marathon, however, provides that each participant must swim with another contestant.

Although the contest was just announced yesterday afternoon six entries already have been received.

Surviving besides her husband are four sisters, Mrs. Emma Gramlich, Mrs. Albert Gilsan and Mrs. C. Edgar Keller, all of Cumberland; Mrs. Edward R. Carter, Eustis, Fla.; and one brother, Albert R. Bender, Cumberland.

West Virginia Will Ration Liquor

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 15. (AP)—The West Virginia Liquor Control Commission announced today that it would inaugurate unit rationing of liquor "in the very near future" through a plan that would tie in with the state's permanent registration system of voter identification.

The commission said it would be called "sales permit rationing", under which person registering for permits will be given a book containing forty-eight coupons, each to be valued according to the amount of liquor available at the time the coupon is valid.

Coupon books will be non-transferable, even to the point that a man will not be permitted to use his wife's book to make a purchase in a state liquor store.

Mrs. E. C. Kilroy To Head Civilian WAAC Recruiting

Applicants for Corps Must Have Two Years of High School Education

Mrs. E. C. Kilroy, Fort Hill terrace, has accepted chairmanship of the civilian volunteer recruiting committee which is aiding in the current Maryland WAAC campaign, according to an announcement yesterday by Lieut. Mary E. Kennedy, representative of the Hagerstown district recruiting office.

Lieut. Kennedy also announced that a new directive has been received from Washington stating that effective April 14, all WAAC applicants will be required to have two years of high school education. Prior to this directive no formal education was required.

When asked to comment on the local enrolling rate, Lieut. Kennedy said that Cumberland is still hitting the top and remains one of the best recruiting fields in the Maryland area. The national enrollment mark, she added, was past 80,000 at the end of March, and the state record will be able to boast a fourth All-Maryland contingent, numbering 150, which will leave at the end of April.

She stated also that Maryland women are not falling down on the record they have always maintained in supporting history-making programs. Nation-wide response to the organization has been so great the corps now has five training centers throughout the country, and a sixth is being planned, she added.

The most recent Cumberland recruit is Angela Burkenbaugh, 50 Wempe drive. Miss Burkenbaugh was formerly employed in the local office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Mrs. Kilroy and her committee will receive applicants and give information to prospective recruits on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. and on Saturdays from 7 to 9 p. m. in the recruiting sub-station, 105 Baltimore street.

38 Men Leave To Enter Army

Thirty-eight men left here yesterday for Fort George G. Meade to enter military service. They were registrants of Local Draft Board No. 2 and were in charge of acting corporal George E. Lehman. Only one of the group was named for limited service and Board No. 2 officials said the majority of the men are married but have no children.

Others in the contingent include Paul P. Morin, Gerald B. Leasure, Floyd A. Wertz, Michael A. Grable, Carl H. Wagner, Carl P. Ryan, William G. Rudolph, Walter E. Corley, William A. Jordan, Ray C. Leighty, Vernon E. Hafer, Arthur L. Marple, Eugene M. James, Leo B. Twigg, Harry J. Haller, William R. Seibert, Stanley J. Wolford, James H. Wallace, Clifton L. Hanlin.

James H. Mease, Harold J. Robinson, Russell J. Ponton, Frankland T. Sine, James E. Stewart, Elmer G. Seward, Calvin S. Keiter, George F. Crawford, Wagoner W. Sheetz, Leo D. Judy, Robert E. Danner, Louis Levin, James E. Slider, Charles S. Saville, William V. Cubbage, Vincent P. Davis, Paul F. Hyde, and Edward H. Jordan.

Two other men, Ralph J. Deberry and Emory Robertson, left Wednesday for Fort Meade. They were Board No. 2 registrants.

JAPANESE HOLD CLARENCE SETTLE AS WAR PRISONER

Mrs. Margaret C. Settle, 165 Bedford street, has received a telegram from the War department advising her that her son, Clarence A. Settle, is a prisoner of the Japanese.

A volunteer in the Army Air Corps in June, 1940, shortly after his graduation from LaSalle high school, Settle was stationed at Nichols Field in the Philippines when Japan initiated its undeclared blitz war against the United States.

Wednesday's message was the first news Mrs. Settle had heard about her son since February, 1942, and it is presumed that he was captured during the Jap assault on the Philippine Islands. Settle is 23 years of age and in his youth was a carrier of the Evening Times.

Vacationists Are Urged To Defer Pleasure Tours

Dreams of Seeing America First Belong to Post-war Plans, ODT Rules

A weekend trip to Aunt Bella's, a day in the country for city dwellers, a jaunt to the "big city" for a round of theaters and night clubs or a swing around the coastal resorts are all labeled "unnecessary" and should be crossed off of every family itinerary for the duration, Ralph E. Lashley, administrator of war transportation for Cumberland and vicinity was advised yesterday by the Office of Defense Transportation.

Vacations, especially for people working under wartime strains, have been declared bona-fide by the government as contributing to national health and morale. This stamp of approval, however, does not mean that travel bars are not for vacation pleasure tours.

The OPA estimates that about twenty-five per cent of the passenger travel on trains and buses is completely non-essential.

See America after War

Dreams of seeing America first belong to post-war vacation plans, the OPA points out, and for this summer would-be coast-to-coast trotters must be content with seeing how green the grass is in their own backyards.

Troop movements, more furlough travel, a rise in war business trips, according to the ODT, have increased passenger travel on railroads alone some eighty-three per cent, and probably will boost it an additional twenty per cent during the coming months.

With such demands on transportation facilities, and with long automobile tours prohibited by gasoline rationing, wanderlust must be packed in mothballs along with last winter's coat.

ODT Provides Guide

If individuals and families must travel to "get away from it all" here is a travel guide-book to make vacations not only enjoyable but patriotic:

1. If possible, make it an "off-season" vacation. Crowds on trains and buses are less and reservations are more readily obtained.

2. Vacation near home. Once you reach your destination, plan to stay there without making side excursions.

3. Don't make quick, overnight trips. Whatever health and morale effects they may have are offset by wartime travel problems.

4. Plan to leave and return in the middle of the week when travel is less heavy. Army leaves are being scheduled in this way whenever possible, and civilians have been asked to follow the lead.

5. Forget about weekend trips entirely. Short, three-day army passes are reserved for weekends to avoid interference with training. Leave room for the soldier getting a quick glimpse of his home town over the weekend.

6. If travel to the vacation spot is long enough to cover meal periods, take box lunches with you. Overcrowded and understaffed diners must feed hundreds of travelers more important than vacationers.

7. If the family is spending the summer months at a nearby resort, warn working members and visitors that commutation may be difficult. Latest indications are that there will be very little additional rail service to resort areas for the duration.
